Former Prisoner Said To Have Sent Messages from L.A. Temple to Ormiston

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—Latest disclosures of Aimee Semple McPherson's alleged rendezvous with Kenneth G. Ormiston, at Carmel-by-the-Sea, were vigorously discounted today by the evangelist.

"I wasn't in Carmel," she said. "That's the truth. It's pretty late for all of these persons to come forward and claim they saw me at Carmel, five months ago."

"The evidence is either untrue or the result of a mistake. However, I'm certain that the truth will prevail. I haven't any fears of the outcome."

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—A. M. Waters, former convict, who committed suicide here recently on the day he was to have been questioned in connection with the Aimee Semple McPherson case, was established by authorities today as the connecting link between Kenneth G. Ormiston and the Angelus temple principals, now facing trial for alleged perjury.

Telegrams, letters and other written data connecting Waters with the asserted McPherson conspiracy were found at the man's home by district attorney operatives. They included wires from Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, indicating Waters was the go-between in communications between Ormiston and the Angelus temple leaders, authorities said.

Investigation of the dead man's effects revealed that he had sent a five-page telegram to Ormiston in the latter part of July, while he was stopping at the Tyant hotel, 46 Turk street, San Francisco, it was said. Contents of the telegram was withheld by the officers.

According to Deputy District Attorney Harold Davis, the discovery of this evidence establishes the methods employed by the missing radio man, Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Kennedy to keep in touch with one another.

"Waters apparently transmitted messages from Ormiston to Angelus temple and from there back to him," Davis said.

Other papers bearing on Waters' alleged connection with the McPherson case were found in the ashes of a grate, indicating the man had burned valuable evidence before committing suicide.

Woman Listed in Notebook

A notebook containing the names of nearly 100 women, with an unexplained code noted after each one, was found also.

Four telegrams, discovered at Waters' former residence, were as follows:

"M. K. Ormiston, Aug. 5, 1926, Hotel Tynan, 64 Turk street, San Francisco: Will leave August 6 and meet you as directed. A. M. Waters."

"A. M. Waters, M. D., 871 South New Hampshire street, Los Angeles, Aug. 5, 1926: Kindly communicate with us at earliest convenience. Highly important. Aimee Semple McPherson."

"Dr. A. M. Waters, Bieber apartments, Los Angeles, August 22: Please communicate with us at earliest possible moment. Mrs. Kennedy."

Will Not Break Faith

"Mr. and Mrs. O. (Tynan): Your letter pleased me. I will surely not break faith with you. In fairness to all, it will be necessary that her 'Miss X' deposition be taken by one designated by Mrs. McPherson, one whose standing cannot be questioned and whose veracity cannot be doubted, even by a skeptical press. You spoke of 'Miss X' pictures. I do not know what use could be made of them and I am sure she would not want to have them published. All that seems important to me is that 'Miss X' make a sworn statement that she occupied bungalow on the date specified and if possible to have the three people you spoke of make oaths and say she was there simply to confirm. The radio, of course, is yours, and you can tell when it was installed and by whom. I expect to leave for San Francisco tomorrow night and will spend the day with you. I hope the service. I can render will and the matter forever and the mouths of the false accusers be closed. Again let me say this identification will help Kenneth."

Comprehensive and rapid service on the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight bout will be offered Santa Ana by The Register tonight, beginning at 5 o'clock.

A blow-by-blow description of the contest will be megaphoned at The Register building, corner of Third and Sycamore streets. This will be given about 6 o'clock after bulletins and news items, furnished by a special leased wire, have been announced.

A special extra edition of The Register, containing details of the battle, will be sold on the streets a few moments after the last blow has been struck.

Government Proceeds In Presenting Evidence On Transaction

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Tracing of the $391,000 in Liberty bonds which Richard Merton paid the late John T. King for the latter's aid in hastening the return of $700,000 in assets of the American Metal company to Swiss claimants, continued in federal court today.

Such evidence was admitted against Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, and Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, in their trial on charges of conspiring to deprive the government of their best services, despite repeated objections of counsel.

With $10,000 of the $391,000 already accounted for by evidence submitted yesterday that Miller deposited one of the bonds, the government went on today in presenting the disposal of two more bonds of $10,000 denomination.

Witnesses from the Federal Reserve bank in Philadelphia, testified that on Feb. 5, 1923, two of the bonds paid over by Merton, 18 months earlier were deposited by Vincent Carroll, a Philadelphia attorney, in exchange for 20 Liberty bonds of $1000 each.

3 KILLED, 9 HURT IN CRASH OF TRUCK

Yosemite, Calif., Aug. 23.—Three men were killed and nine injured when a truck loaded with workmen crashed over an embankment, six miles below Yosemite village today.

Tom Martin, 37; John Carlson, 40, and G. Hayerson, all of Yosemite, were killed.

Twelve men were on the truck when the driver, J. Halstead, 17, Merced, lost control of it at the top of a half-mile grade.

They were all employees of the V. R. Dennis company, of Sacramento, road contractors.

According to Halstead, the gears were stuck in neutral and the truck was not equipped with an emergency brake. At the bottom of the grade, the truck struck an iron sprinkling stand and turned over, scattering its occupants in all directions.

Those injured were all residents of Yosemite. They were Peter Anderson, fractured skull; W. J. Larson, internal injuries; L. Waters, internal injuries; Fred Heide, cuts and bruises; M. Morrissey, cuts and bruises; Ed Haye, cuts and bruises; T. Bartell, cuts and bruises.

LIFEGUARDS IN WATER ON LONG CATALINA SWIM

Nicholas Sanoff and Robert Foster Hope To Be First To Accomplish Feat

Braving the icy waters of the Catalina channel, Nicholas Sanoff, Balboa lifeguard, and Robert Foster, Ocean Park lifeguard, plunged into the ocean off the Newport Beach city pier at 11:31 a. m., today, in the hope that they will be able to walk up on the sandy beach at Avalon, the first human beings to swim from the California coast to the "magic isle."

The two lifeguards had expected to start their long aquatic dash at 8:30 a. m., but delayed the beginning of their swim until 10:15 a. m. At that time it was decided that the tide would be stronger at 1:30 and the start again was delayed. At one minute past the third hour set for starting, the two men left for Avalon, using all long, easy strokes.

The men were accompanied by the launch "Dixie," on which was a number of their lifeguard friends. A phonograph was placed on the launch to provide lively music to divert the attention of the swimmers from the long task ahead of them and keep them cheered. In swimming the English channel, Gertrude Ederle said the music from the band on her convey was of the greatest assistance to her.

When the start was made, the tide was sweeping out and the calm condition of the sea also was considered very much in their favor.

Sanoff was backed in his attempt by R. L. Patterson, of Santa Ana. He has been training for the trial for about two months and, before he started, told his friends that he considered his chances even of reaching the island goal. He is a former member of the Montevideo, Uruguay, swimming club and has a number of long distance water thrusters to his credit.

Foster also has been in training for the swim and many of his friends from Ocean Park were on hand to bid him farewell.

The men, if they are successful, expect to reach Catalina in the early hours of Friday, it was said.

LIST OF DEAD IN STORM CUT DOWN TO 250

Count of Fatalities in All Districts Except Moorehaven Shows 184 Killed

Property Damage Due To Hurricane In Florida Is Placed At 200 Millions

(By United Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23.—As official check of the dead progressed in south Florida's storm area today, it was believed not more than 250 fatalities occurred. Col. T. B. Collins, personal representative of Governor Martin said.

Official count in all areas except Moorehaven and its environs showed 184 killed.

With property damage believed to approximate $200,000,000, strenuous efforts were exerted toward rehabilitation. The program is of such great scope that 300 office workers will be required in the administration office to be established in a central city in the ravaged region, it was said by Henry Baker, national director of disaster relief of the American Red Cross.

Baker was to select the city today on an airplane tour of the district.

Expenses of administration work will be met by the Red Cross. Not a cent of the millions of relief money, being collected over the nation, will go for pay for the workers, Baker said.

The biggest problem is the reconstruction of homes swept away by the hurricane Saturday. Food and medical supplies have been received in great quantities, and doctors, nurses and relief workers have greatly mitigated suffering.

Pure water is dispensed by Boy Scouts from wash tubs and other containers. The menace of an epidemic is believed to have passed.

The official tabulation of the dead, as announced by the governor's representative, was:

RICKARD BREATHES EASIER AS SUITS ARE TOSSED OUT

(By United Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—With two more suits tossed out of court and time shortening the chances for any further attempts at interference, Tex Rickard began to breathe a little easier this afternoon about the security of his Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship.

"I wasn't worried about those suits, because I was assured that there was no good legal ground back of them," Rickard said.

He admitted, however, that he would feel better when the courts close for the day and when the principals are in town safely.

STADIUM IS CROWDED BY BOXING FANS

Everything Is Set For Big Battle in Philadelphia For Heavyweight Crown

FIGHTERS WEIGHED IN

Challenger Tips Beam At 185½ Pounds; Champ Enters Ring at Over 190

(By United Press)

SEASQUI-CENTENNIAL STADIUM, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Thousands of early arriving spectators were swarming into this huge concrete pile this afternoon, more than five hours before the time for the world's heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

Weather conditions were almost ideal. The sun was out bright and the early morning threat of rain seemed to have passed over for good. It was an unusually warm day, but the heat of the sun was tempered a little by a slight breeze that found a way in through the open end of the stadium.

The enormity of the stands dwarfed the size of the crowd that fought its way into the unreserved section, and the stream of humanity that drifted in a steady flow through the ramparts, seemed to disappear in the canyon.

Stadium of Enormous Size

The stadium is almost twice the size of the Yale bowl and slightly larger than the huge stadium that was built for the Wembley exhibition in London, where Tom Gribbons and Jack Bloomfield fought.

Tex Rickard's ticket staff said the fight would be a sellout and that at least 120,000 paid customers would see it.

The early arrivals were entertained by a squadron of stunt flyers from the U. S. navy yards and planes flying pictures which came so low that they almost made a breeze from the propellers.

Rickard, who is said to have guaranteed Dempsey $800,000 and Tunney $250,000, was on the scene early, taking personal charge of the ring arrangements. The photographers took charge of him for 10 minutes.

"Everything is fine," Rickard said. "The weather is great and business certainly looks good."

Tunney weighed in at 185½ pounds this afternoon.

No formal announcement was made of Dempsey's exact weight, but reports from those present when the champion stepped on the scales in the offices of the Pennsylvania boxing commission ranged from 190 to 193.

The weighing-in ceremony was only a formality to comply with the rules as neither fighter was forced to make weight, but it was taken quite seriously by the natives and visitors and gave the police department a huge job.

The main streets were jammed with fight fans and visiting delegates to a flock of conventions and there was a mob rush to the Drexel building where boxing pictures were being shown. The building that Tunney had arrived in a plane from his Stroudsburg training camp and was driving to the commission's office.

Crowds Get Through Lines

Passes from the boxing commission were demanded by the police, but hundreds without newspaper credentials got through the lines and so congested the building that only a few newspapermen were able to see the actual weighing in.

Tunney repeated the many statements he has made that he is sure he is going to win the championship from Dempsey. He wasn't the least bit nervous and the only expression he made of discomfiture was:

"Wow, it certainly is hot."

Approximately 125,000 tickets have been sold, according to the best information the busy ticket sellers could get together. That does not include the 1400 ushers, the several hundred newspapermen, telegraphers, photographers, radio men, electricians and others who are concerned in telling the world about the fight; nor Rickard's staff of general attendants, officials and the 1000 police who will be in and around the stadium.

Estimated Receipts $1,800,000

Receipts were estimated at $1,800,000 of which Dempsey gets $400,000 and Tunney $200,000. It is generally understood Dempsey gets, in addition, half of the receipts over a million dollars, which would make his profit for a few minutes' work about $300,000 and leave Tex Rickard about $400,000. Out of that $400,000, Rickard will have to pay the expenses of promoting and staging the show and most people agreed this fight would not make Rickard wealthy.

The state of Pennsylvania will get about $90,000 in taxes; the federal amusement tax will be about $175,000; the Seesqui-Centennial about $175,000. Those sums probably will be paid out of Rickard's share and out of whatever Dempsey gets as his share of the receipts over $1,000,000.

PLAINTIFFS ARE AWARDED $1 IN $50,000 ACTION

The $50,000 damage claim filed against the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railway by the widow and mother of William Hetebrink, Fullerton man, killed in a crossing wreck, was whittled down to $1 by a jury late yesterday returned its verdict in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court.

After hearing evidence produced at the trial of the damage suit, the jury rendered a verdict sustaining the railroad company's defense that Hetebrink and a companion, Sid Wilson, were jointly guilty of negligence in connection with the accident.

Hetebrink was killed at the South Harvard street crossing, in Fullerton, when a truck, driven by Wilson, was struck by a gasoline motor operated by C. H. Shuey, motorman for the railroad company. The testimony in court showed that Wilson had driven the truck on the railroad track and there had stopped it. Subsequently he had been unable to get it started, and off the track in time to avoid the approaching car. Wilson leaped to safety and escaped with injuries, but Hetebrink failed to get clear of the truck. The accident occurred Sept. 16, 1925.

The damage suit was brought by Mrs. Harriett A. Hetebrink, his widow, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hetebrink, his mother.

At the trial, the railroad company raised the point of "joint enterprise" in defense, contending that, inasmuch as Hetebrink had been a foreman for the company employing him and Wilson, he had control of the truck and direction of Wilson's action. Therefore it was a joint enterprise and Hetebrink was responsible for Wilson's acts as well as his asserted negligence, the railroad lawyers argued.

On these grounds, the defense moved the court to non-suit the case and, later, moved for an instructed verdict.

While conceding that, in his opinion, the position of the defense was well taken, Judge Marks denied both motions. There is no direct ruling of the higher courts on the point as it developed in the case at bar and, since the question is so close to the border line, he would let the case go to the jury and, if the litigants saw fit, let the higher courts rule on the matter, he said. The jury, after some deliberation, returned its verdict of $1 damages against the railroad company.

Attorneys Pettit, Bonnett and Ellison represented the defense at the trial. Bertrand J. Wellman was attorney for the plaintiffs.

'Obey' Meant Too Much to Husband, Wife's Suit Says

The word "obey" in his marriage ceremony meant a great deal to Dell H. Simmons, according to his wife, Edith, who has just filed suit for divorce.

Afterward, she said, he frequently told her that he owned her body and soul, and that it was her duty to obey him in all things. He forced her to discontinue corresponding with her daughter, she claims.

The divorce complaint, filed through Attorney E. O. Mathis, of Anaheim, states that Mrs. Simmons found "life with her husband was rather strenuous, so she left him."

They were married, the complaint states, in Trinidad, Colo., in 1920, "by a Presbyterian minister of the name of Hayes."

YOUTH IS CHARGED WITH AUTO THEFT

A complaint, charging grand larceny, in connection with the theft of an automobile, was issued today against L. B. Rogers, 25, mechanic, of 1127 West Chestnut street, by the district attorney's office.

According to the complaint, the machine in question was the property of Allen McClure, Orange.

Rogers was arrested at 1:30 a. m. today, at his home, by State Officers Meehan, Peterkin and Cain and lodged in jail on a charge of violation of the motor vehicle act. A charge of reckless driving also has been placed against the man, it was said.

Rogers is scheduled for arraignment in Justice Andrew Wilson's court this afternoon.

MISS HILL NOW LEADS GIRLS IN QUEEN CONTEST

Standing of contestants in "Queen of the Air" contest, sponsored by the Santa Ana Air club:

Glenna-Jean Hill—Exchange—$800
Martha Kelsey—Legion—$570
Ruth Stinch—Fair Club—$460
Heleen Hull—Jr. Chamber—$300

Miss Glenna-Jean Hill, representing the Santa Ana Exchange club, was in the lead today, on the eve of the close of the vote contest to select the "Queen of the Air" for the second annual World Flight Commemorative meet, to be held Sunday. The contest, sponsored by the Santa Ana Air club, will close at midnight tonight.

T. J. Neal has agreed to give the winning candidate a $10 leather helmet and Dr. F. K. Halber, optometrist, will donate a pair of $16 goggles. B. E. Morthland, commodore of the Santa Ana Air club, announced.

Indication of the interest the air meet is arousing in aeronautics is illustrated in a telegram received from E. M. Gott, vice president of the Atlantic Aircraft corporation, manufacturer of the Fokker planes in America.

Gott's wire brought information to the Southern California chapter of the National Aeronautic association, sponsors of next Sunday's round-the-Southland flight, that he was leaving New York Monday, in a Fokker plane, carrying five passengers, and would arrive later in the week to participate in the air regatta.

The plane, in which Gott and his party are crossing the continent, is Fokker-Universal engine and in a fast cruiser, even with full passenger load. The craft is the same type as that used by Lieutenant Wilkins in his Alaska-north pole expedition last spring.

"Arrival of Gott and his party aboard the giant Fokker will give Pacific coast persons their first glimpse of this type of machine," said Arnold Krucman, chairman of the executive committee of the air meet. "Gott's wire brings news that the Fokker will be a competitor for honors in the sky carnival next Sunday, covering the Clover field, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Arlington, Alhambra and return to Clover field circle course."

Through Gott, Anthony Fokker, designer of the plane, extends his best wishes to western aeronautic enthusiasts and for the success of next Sunday's contest.

Entry of the Fokker plane is the fifty-second on the roster of contestants, and before the opening gun is sounded next Sunday, officials of the meet expect the entry list to approximate 100 planes from the army, navy and civilian ranks of flying.

District attorney investigators left here today for Santa Barbara and other northern cities with a picture of Ormiston showing him with a hat on. They will attempt to find persons who might have seen him during his trips up and down the coast.

Legal experts are seen
Legal experts at the district attorney's office gave out opinions today that Ormiston, if located in Chicago, could be easily extradited. The state, it was declared, could prove the radio man was party to conspiracies while still in California.

Additional circumstances will use in its efforts to prove that it was Mrs. McPherson who shared a bungalow with Ormiston at Carmel, last May, was revealed today at the district attorney's office.

It included a book entitled "The Mind Unmasked," in which a chapter was devoted to an essay on "Light and Darkness." The blocked-out sermon, which had been prepared by the evangelist and was found on the beach at Ocean Park after her disappearance, was headed, in her handwriting, "Light and Darkness."

Claims Phrases Reprinted
Deputy District Attorney E. J. Dennison declared that certain phrases in the book were identically reprinted in Mrs. McPherson's notes of her blocked-out sermon.

District attorney prosecutors continued roundings up witnesses today to testify against Mrs. McPherson when the evangelist and her associates are given preliminary hearing Monday on charges of tampering with the machinery of justice.

At least 10 witnesses from Carmel-by-the-Sea are to appear and identify Mrs. McPherson as the woman seen at the residence of Kenneth G. Ormiston, missing radio operator and co-defendant, it is asserted.

They include Ralph Hershey, Santa Barbara millionaire, and his wife, and Wallace Moore, a newspaperman from Santa Barbara. Moore and the Hersheys were questioned at length by District Attorney Asa Keyes and they were positive in their identification, it was announced.

Continue Ormiston Search
Search for Kenneth G. Ormiston continued, with the hunt concentrated in Chicago, where he is believed in hiding. If Ormiston is not found before Monday, the hearing will not be postponed, as reported, according to the district attorney.

Two days of fast and prayer, to aid in raising the $100,000 defense fund for Mrs. McPherson, are planned by the Angelus temple congregation.

Firemen Found
In Arson Plot

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—An arson epidemic has been skillfully organized by firemen of the districts of Malschwitz, Guttau and Baruth, according to a report to the police in Dresden. Official statistics show that the villages in this district held the record for having suffered more than any other communities in Germany from fire outbreaks.
When the statisticians discovered that only heavily insured property was burned. They referred the matter to the police, who, after a lengthy investigation unearthed the conspiracy of the firemen through the leader, who made a full confession.

From the heavily insured owners,
he received $25 to $250 or victuals, such as fatted pigs, for burning down buildings, haystacks and barns. That the business was profitable was proven by the fact that Domalch Domasch, one of the conspirators, was building the grandest home in Malschwitz when he was arrested.

FLORIDA'S CALL

Editor Register—The people of Orange county and of California have read of the appalling disaster in the state of Florida, and a subscription list shows a response of less than $300.
It's not sympathy, it's dollars, that the stricken state needs at this moment.
Where are the churches? What are they doing in this time of sorrow, of grief, and desolation in the state of Florida? Where is the city council? What of the various clubs? Of the theaters?
What are they doing? What of the different lodges? What are they doing? Hundreds killed; 40,000 persons homeless, many thousands injured—and less than $300 to help relieve the distress!
The call for help is great. Will not The Register send out a clarion call, a ringing appeal, for help?

When the city of Halifax, in Canada, met with disaster in the memorable explosion a dozen years ago, when a portion of the city was entirely wiped out, 2000 persons killed outright, thousands injured, etc., the state of Massachusetts in New England had a car load of goods dispatched to the stricken area within a few hours, and the response from all over the states commanded the admiration of the world. They realized the gravity of the situation; they saw Uncle Sam's citizens not catch the same spirit today? The call at this hour is a hundred fold more urgent.

quickly."

ORANGE COUNTY DELEGATION
STUDIES TREE PROPAGATION
IN VISIT TO L. A. NURSERY

Half a million pine trees, ready for transplanting in the forests, and another half million, which will be ready next year, was the sight that greeted the Orange county delegation to the Los Angeles county forest tree nursery yesterday in Altadena. The next starting sight shown them was six acres of Coulter pines, which had been planted in the forest in 1920. These pines were from 15 to 25 feet high and all of them were in a good healthy condition, although they had received no attention since planting.

ACTOR-PRIEST MAINTAINS HE WILL BE FREED

"I know about the confession
Gaines is said to have made and, if he told the truth, then I will be vindicated. I don't know whether Gaines killed Patterson or not,
but if he really made a confession,
then it will clear me," Philip A.
Goodwin, actor-priest, being held for the murder of J. J. Patterson, together with Albert Gaines, said today in his cell in the county jail.

Information to the effect that a confession had been made regarding the murder of J. J. Patterson yesterday. He stated, however, that he had no idea as to what the written statement made to the district attorney's office contained, but that he felt sure that if Gaines told the truth, he Goodwin, would be vindicated.

Goodwin said that his attorney would be here from Los Angeles this afternoon and that he was looking forward to seeing them in the hope of obtaining more information regarding the alleged confession.

Deputy sheriffs today are checking details of the confession Gaines is said to have made last Monday night to C. N. Mozley, deputy district attorney. Developments in the case are being kept secret and officers have been told not to release any information regarding any angle that has presented itself in the last several days.

Gaines, as well as Goodwin, is being held incommunicado in the county jail.

CAT CALM IN FIRE

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Fire drove scores of employees from an office building the other day, forced a dozen or more patrons of a restaurant on the first floor to flee, but failed to frighten "Pete," a nondescript, white-haired cat. Pete sat unconcerned on the counter in the lunch room, oblivious to the flames roaring overhead. Water fell through to the restaurant until there was a foot of it on the floor, but Pete stayed. When the "fall out" sounded and the owner of the building had figured up his loss of $5,- 000, Pete strolled calmly out, un-singled.

J. E. Elliott, forest supervisor; J.
K. Munhall, district forest ranger; Robert C. Northcross, county forester; S. H. Gordon, fire warden, of San Diego county, and A. M. Stanley, secretary Orange County Farm bureau, were guests of Supervisor Willard Smith on the excursion to the Los Angeles plant. The trip was made to gain some information in regards to managing a county forestry department, as an extensive forestry project is contemplated in Orange county.

Park Nursery Planned

Arrangements have been made to establish a forest tree nursery in the Orange County park, under the direction of Robert Northcross, who will be assisted by the forest supervisor, Forest Ranger Munhall, Prof.
Woodbridge Metcalf, extension specialist in forestry, and the farm bureau. It is anticipated that when the trees are ready for planting in the hills, the farm bureau will hold a gigantic arbor day picnic.

Results in Los Angeles county point to surprising success in reforestation by the use of Coulter pines. These trees are native of a four to five thousand foot elevation, but the demonstration plot in Los Angeles has only a 1200-foot elevation and has been remarkably successful. The trees made better than a 75 per cent stand and show a phenomenal growth.

Spend $145,000 Annually

Los Angeles county spends about $145,000 annually in reforestation and fire prevention, it was learned by the committee. It has two-and-a-half acres devoted to the propagation of forest trees and, while Coulter pines predominate, other varieties of pines, shrubs and trees also are grown. Part of the work consists of gathering seeds of the wild cherry and casahuate brush, which is broadcast in the hills for rapid recovering of burned areas.
It maintains several fire fighting stations, fully equipped for protection of the hills and mountain homes. These stations are located in advantageous points and have been successful in coping with the hazard this year.

The several stations are supplemented by a warehouse, near San Fernando, in which is housed all sorts of fire fighting apparatus, from pack saddles to motor trucks.
"Fifty-men camp kits," completely supplied with rations, are kept ready in the warehouse continually during the fire season and, with its organization, it is possible for the Los Angeles department to place several hundred men on a fire line a few hours after the need appears.

Propagation Is Simple

The propagation of forest trees is comparatively simple as conducted by the Los Angeles plant. The seeds are planted in beds during October and irrigated until after germination. The trees then are allowed to grow in the seed bed for a year and very little attention is given them. Irrigation is rare. At the present time the nursery is exceedingly dry. As the hill planting season approaches, the tiny trees are transplanted to individual paper boxes and they again are hardened in the sun. The tree is placed in the hills, carrying with it the ball of dirt in which it has grown.

It also was learned that the federal forest service maintained a warehouse, supplies, camping outfits, motor trucks and emergency outfits in the warehouse in Arroyo Seco. This equipment was placed at the call of Orange county in case of an emergency.

GOATS LIKE GUM

GLACIER PARK, Mont., Sept. 23.
—Rangers in the park have discovered that mountain goats like to chew spruce gum. The animals go down to timberline to feed and gnaw the drops of sap from the trunks of spruce trees. Observers saw an old billy goat get gum in his whiskers and become more and more entangled as he tried to comb it out.

HARD LOSERS

TOKIO, Sept. 23.—It is difficult for an Asiatic to grasp the idea of "losing with honor" or being "defeated but not disgraced," according to Prof. B. J. Wilden-Hart, of the Imperial university. The old attitude of the fatalistic and feudalistic east, he says, was "win or die."

OCTOBER 9 IS
DATE SET FOR ROAD OPENING

October 9 has been chosen as the date for the opening celebration for the Coast highway, between Newport Beach and Laguna Beach.

Committees from the cities along the coast from Long Beach to San Diego are at work planning the celebration, which is to include a number of novel features. The caravan will start from Long Beach early in the morning of October 9 and pick up delegations at each point along the route until Newport Beach is reached, when the entire party will descend upon Laguna Beach for the actual ceremony of road opening.

Each city along the line will select a queen to represent the city and escorts of "pirates" will be in the party.

The opening of this scenic route along the shores of the Pacific provides another splendid round trip which can be made in one day and enjoyed by Southern California people, it is pointed out, starting from Los Angeles, to Long Beach, thence along the coast, passing through Seal Beach, Sunset Beach, Huntington Beach, then on to the several communities grouped about Newport bay, Newport, Balboa, Costa Mesa, Corona del Mar and then on to Laguna Beach. The return can be made through Irvine, Tustin, La Habra and back to Los Angeles.

PERFECTLY LEGAL

LONDON, Sept. 23.—"The very walls have eyes," complained an elderly woman before a magistrate here. She explained that the people in the flat above her bored holes in her ceiling and spied upon her, while in another hole they inserted a tube and hurled epithets at her. The magistrate, however, de-

PRISONER GETS SECOND PAROLE IN 5 MONTHS

For the second time within five months H. E. Hixon, auto painter, 609 West Second street, Santa Ana, has been paroled from the county jail after being found guilty, in police court, of possession of intoxicating liquor.

Hixon's second parole came yesterday afternoon, after he had served time in the jail since July 13, when he was sentenced after being found guilty of possession in Judge J. F. Talbot's court. At that time he was fined $300, with an alternate of spending 150 days in jail.

Hixon first was arrested on May 3, charged with possession of liquor. At that time he went to jail for 75 days, being unable to pay a fine of $150 in police court. On June 4 he was paroled from the jail, according to records.

Judge J. F. Talbot said today that the parole was granted yesterday without any recommendation from him.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan said that he had refused to sign the parole papers the second time for the man. A. P. Nelson, district attorney, another member of the board of parole could not be reached today. The third member of the parole board, City Marshal Claude Rogers, stated that he and Nelson had paroled Hixon because he was the father of three children and the mother had been receiving money from the county to support the children during the time the father was in jail.

S. A. Man Arrested On Driving Charge

A Turk, of Santa Ana, was handed a ticket charging reckless driving, this morning, in Orange. He is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Ingle within five days. Homer Jenkins, of Redlands, was assessed $150 when he appeared before Justice Ingle on a charge of possession of liquor. He paid the fine.

RIVERSIDE—A combination of Exchange packing houses in the Riverside district has been effected, with the Riverside Naval Growers' association joining forces with the Alta Cresta Citrus association. The new organization is on a strictly co-operative basis in which each grower has a voice and vote in management of the affairs. The packing house at the Pachappa station will be used in the packing of oranges, the growers having leased the building and equipment from E. M. Bonnett. A new washer and dryer is being installed and other changes are being made so that the plant will be one of the best equipped packing houses in the Riverside district. A large number of growers who have not been identified with the Exchange have been secured for the new organization and the outlook for the coming season is very good.

SAN DIEGO—With the new unit of the San Diego hospital completed and accepted by the supervisors, giving the hospital a capacity of 550 beds, with increased facilities for the care of patients, Dr. Roy Stevenson, superintendent, says that San Diego county has one of the best, if not the best, county hospital institutions in the state. The new unit cost $200,000 and provides 142 additional beds, also operating rooms, quarters for internes and other special features that all modern hospitals have.

RIVERSIDE—Construction of 12 miles of road in the La Sierra heights district at a cost of about $180,000 became assured today, when the board of supervisors authorized Clerk Reimer to advertise bids for the project. Expected protests which were to have been heard did not materialize at the session, so by a unanimous vote the board decided bids should be asked immediately. They will be opened early in October, it was announced. Plans for the work, prepared by Engineer J. P. Flynn, call for 16-foot oil-bound macadam, to be laid on a number of short roads in the La Sierra district. In requesting the improvement, property owners pointed to the rapid growth in that section during the last several years, stating that this expansion must be met with greater road facilities. Fifteen per cent of the expense will be borne by the county, according to the action taken today, the rest to be obtained through formation of an assessment district.

ONTARIO—Enrollment in the local grade schools and Chaffey union high school is continuing to grow, a check of attendance revealed. Total attendance at the grade schools at the beginning of this week was 1966, while last Monday at the opening of school, attendance was 1894. Chaffey has 1066 pupils enrolled at the main school on Euclid avenue, while a number are enrolled for high school work at Fontana, Piedmont and Mountain View branches of Chaffey. The exact enrollment at the branch schools could not be learned, but there has been a steady increase in attendance, according to school authorities.

POMONA—Opening after a week shutdown, the local plant of the Cutler-Lobinger cannery has started a season run on tomatoes. According to Vice-President Paul H. Parrish, the company expects to put up some 3000 tons of the vegetables, all of which will be supplied by Pomona valley growers. One hundred women and about 50 men are employed, at the present time. The present run will close November 15, at which time the cannery will begin the annual pack on pumpkins.

FINAL TOUCHES GIVEN TO PLANS FOR AIR MEETING; QUEEN CANDIDATE GUEST

Miss Ruth Stith, pretty candidate of the Santa Ana Air club for the honor of being designated "Queen of the Air" in the second annual World Flight Commemoration meet, Sunday, had today advanced her standing by the addition of 2000 votes, purchased by members of the Air club at the weekly meeting, held last night in the Finley hotel.

This was announced by Berle E. Northland, commodore of the Santa Ana Air club, who presided over the meeting last night.

Votes Are Pledged
A station of honor was given Miss Stith at the meeting. Commodore Northland introduced her. At the close of the meeting, the 2000 votes were pledged to her by the club members.

Commodore Northland said that the selection as "Queen of the Air" carried with it much honor. Several other candidates are mustering votes in the contest. Miss Stith was one of the last to enter. The winner is to ride in the pathfinder ship around the circuit of "ports of call," of which Santa Ana is one, over Southern California, Sunday.

The "Queen of the Air" will be decked in an aviator's costume, with all the fixings of helmet, goggles and leather shirt, which will be given outright to her.

Most of the meeting of the Air club was taken up with committee reports. A final session of the club was called for tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce building, to iron out last-minute details arising in connection with the program at Eddie Martin's field, on South Main street, which will be Santa Ana's "port of call" for the air-planes participating in the meet.

Plan Stunting Application
The program at the Santa Ana field will be featured by stunting exhibitions and special squadron formation by the airplanes dispatched here from the naval aviation base at San Diego.

Part of the program will include aerial bombing with fireworks from the flying ships, according to Earl Granger, chairman of the program committee. A ship is to be directed from the ground through radio station KFON, Long Beach, it is planned.

To add to the occasion, three movie stars are to be present on the field, participating in some of the events on the program. Eleanor Fair and William Boyd, of the Lasky studios, and Gwen Lee, of M. G. M., are the stars of the screen who will attend, it was said.

Much attention is being given to the entertainment of the detachment of army flyers of the San Diego reserve squadron. Seven or eight ships are expected.

The army flyers will arrive Saturday afternoon, under the command of Captain Griffen. They will be honored at a banquet that night as the guests of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Balboa pavilion will feature a dance program in honor of the airmen. Members of the Air club are to extend hospitality of their homes to the flyers.

100 Planes Expected
After the exhibition program, the contests are to begin. The pathfinder ship, carrying the "Queen of the Air," Los Angeles city officials and aeronautical association officials will land here shortly after 1:30 o'clock, it is expected. A stream of planes competing in the meet will land and check in to Joe Stidmore, chairman of the judging committee. There are nearly 100 competing airplanes. All must land and take off again from Martin's field, according to the rules.

The start and finish of the flight is at Clover field, Santa Monica, where Nelson, Wade and others of the American army pilots took off in the flight around the world, in 1924.

Wife Says Hubby Expected Her to Buy His Tobacco

When Arthur M. Poulson got married he discovered that his wife was unable to support him in the style to which he had been accustomed. He betrayed righteous resentment at this betrayal of his confidence and expressed his opinion to his wife in no uncertain terms.

Such was the substance of statements made by Mrs. Margaret A. Poulson today in her divorce complaint, filed in superior court through her attorney, D. G. Moore, of Compton.

"If I had known you weren't able to support me, I'd never have married you," Poulson protested to his wife, she said. He complained bitterly, she declared, because she did not keep him supplied with tobacco and cigars.

The Poulsons were married in Riverside last March 4 and separated this month.

Court Continues Second Trial In Booze Sale Case

The second trial of M. R. Wallace, of Anaheim, charged with selling liquor, today was continued to November 4, in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court. The prosecution asked for more time, it was stated.

At Wallace's first trial, the jury failed to agree. Wallace has served a sentence of 150 days in the county jail on a charge of possession.

Attorney O. A. Jacobs represents him in the court proceedings. Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Moxley is in charge of the prosecution.

CO-OPERATION SCHOOL'S NEED, SAYS CRANSTON

A variety of subjects, ranging from proposed legislation to care of pre-school children, were discussed at an executive board meeting of the Santa Ana city federation, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, held yesterday afternoon in the George Washington school, North Main street.

Mrs. Fay Spangler, president of the federation, presided over the meeting, which was attended by the executive officers, as well as by the department chairmen. Among those present was a number of association presidents.

New Board Soon

With the approach of the coming municipal elections, the superintendent called attention to the fact that in the absence of a charter, providing for a hold-over of school trustees, it will be necessary to elect an entirely new board of education. The school executive recommended legislation that would provide for a hold-over of at least two or three members. The election of an entire new board may not only mean the complete reversal of established policies and administration methods, but, at the best, it takes almost six months before the members have become familiar with their duties, Cranston remarked.

Changes in social and economic conditions, forcing many parents to live in flats, apartment houses, rooming houses and other limited quarters, have made the kindergarten one of the most important agencies in our school system, not only from an educational standpoint, but from that of child welfare, as well, Cranston said. He recommended legislation which would give state and county aid to the kindergarten department, now supported entirely by district taxation. The local rate for support of kindergarten schools is 15 cents per hundred, it was explained.

Removal of Tax
Removal of the 30-cent tax limit on local district tax for maintenance of elementary schools, or that this rate be placed at the 75-cent limit, fixed for high schools, was among the recommendations of the school man.

Re-enactment of state legislation, establishing 24-hour schools by the county for juvenile delinquents, was urged by Cranston. He called attention to the fact that this much needed legislation passed both houses of the last legislature, but was vetoed by Governor Richardson. The enactment of such a measure would enable the educational authorities to provide proper school facilities for juveniles, the superintendent asserted.

Cranston also recommended that the P.-T. A. workers interest themselves in legislation which would facilitate the organization of a union junior college district in the county.

In conclusion, the superintendent thanked the P.-T. A. members for active and intelligent interest taken in public affairs, a symptom, he said, which augurs well for the best interests of the community.

Surprise Parties Are Popular Features Of Autumn

BIRTHDAY LANS to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. P. T. Isherwood, 521 East Seventh street, were so well carried out by her neighbors that her arrival at her home last night was the first indication she had of a party. Not even was Mr. Isherwood taken into their confidence and he had gone to lodge and had to be recalled to his home.

Mrs. Isherwood is entertaining a house-guest, Mrs. Helen Hayes of San Francisco, whose co-operation made the surprise possible. Mrs. Allen had arranged fresh flowers all over the house and conspired to keep her hostess at home on that particular evening.

The merrymakers had the evening's entertainment planned as well as refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee. The birthday cake bore sixteen tinted candles as an indication of the youthful heart of the hostess and honoree.

Perhaps no one had a happier evening than little Miss Ruth Bernier of Garden Grove who was spending the night in her grandparents' home and so took part in the party. Others enjoying the event in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Isherwood and their guests, Mrs. Hayes, were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Blower, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schick, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Youel, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Gibson and Mrs. Beard.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY REATLY surprising their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Vardy, 1419 Cypress street, upon their twentieth wedding anniversary, their son and daughter, Edward and Miss Alphonette Vardy, planned a delightful party for

Tuesday evening. The young people were assisted in carrying out their plans by their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Taggart, who were co-hosts with them. Arrival of the guests was the first intimation Mr. and Mrs. Vardy had of the party plans. A delightful evening followed with music and dancing. The Misses Gertrude and Henrietta Scheffer entertained with singing and Miss Anna Scheffer gave both song and dance numbers. A three-piece orchestra was provided for general dancing.

Many beautiful gifts were presented Mr. and Mrs. Vardy. Refreshments of wedding cake, ice cream and fruit punch, added to the enjoyment of the occasion. Enjoying the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Vardy and their interesting young people, Alphonette, Edward, Elmer, Margaret, Mary Jane and Genevieve, were Mr. and Mrs. Taggart, assistant hosts, Mrs. Leta Callicotte, Miss Grace McMillen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connell and John Walsh, all of Long Beach; W. Maxin, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Christenson, Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hard Times Suggested By Shabby Guests at Merry Gathering

T was indeed a motley crew that took possession of the Earl Elliott home Tuesday night, responding to the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer W. Elliott to enjoy a "hard times party." The ragged garments worn, created merriment from the moment of arrival of the guests who were members of the Young Married People's class of the First Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott had decorated the home of the former's parents, with quantities of scarlet geraniums and asparagus fern for the occasion, and extended a gay hospitality. Music, games and contests added to the general merriment. Mrs. Mack Bell and Mrs. Harry A. Kern aided the hostess in directing the games.

The refreshment hour brought added amusement when newspaper napkins were provided and toothpicks and water served. When the guests finally reached the conclusion that the generous repast was all they were to enjoy, paper bags containing sandwiches, cookies and apples were passed.

Enjoying the evening's pleasure were Mr. and Mrs. James M. Lauri and daughter Linnette, Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Edward U. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Paquette, Mr. and Mrs. Lauraine Bower, Mr. and Mrs. William Hazen, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elliott, Miss Grace Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Huffman and son Winford, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Bell and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Elliott and small Spencer W. Elliott Jr.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

North-east section members of the First Presbyterian Aid society held their first meeting after the summer vacation season, yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Belle Pulver on Santa Clara avenue.

After a short business session, during which activities of the coming winter were discussed, a social hour was enjoyed, during which Mrs. Harold Pollock entertained with several piano selections. There were forty members and guests present to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Pulver and Mrs. Webb, and their assistant hostesses who added a happy feature to the afternoon by serving salad, sandwiches, cookies and coffee.

This hostess group included Mrs. Rena A. Crozier, Mrs. Mary Heathman, Mrs. Mae Wells, Mrs. L. L. Whitson, Mrs. Emma Bishop and Mrs. Lucy McCowan. Four new members were added to the section.

St. Joseph's Altar
Thirty members of St. Joseph's Altar society gathered yesterday afternoon in Knights of Columbus hall for the regular monthly meeting. The hostesses were Mrs. Charles Schneiderberg, Mrs. Ella Naylon and Mrs. J. P. Ireland. Vari-colored asters were used for the attractive decorations.

The president, Mrs. Clyde Ashen presided for the business meeting, which included various matters of importance, including a membership campaign during which each member is asked to get a member.

MUSIC RECITAL

That amazing 12-year-old pianist, Everard Stovall, whose ability amounts almost to genius, was presented in an invitational recital last night by Earl Fraser under whose masterly tutelage, the youth is advancing to unusual heights, musically speaking.

The beautiful studio of Mr. Fraser, was the scene of the unusual evening, and half a hundred or more guests accepted invitation to the affair. The studio was just recently redecorated, and with its subdued lighting, handsome Oriental rugs and paintings by California masters, was a uniquely lovely setting for a musical evening.

The program presented by young Everard, was of amazing range, one that would make demands upon an experienced professional player. The lad really amazed the critical audience (composed of talented professional musicians as well as music lovers of the county) by the maturity of his musical conception and a really extraordinary technique.

His program embraced the polyphonic school of Bach, Beethoven's classicisms; Chopin's brilliant pianistic effects (called the greatest of the romantic school) and two examples of modern bravura technique.

To add variety to the program were two violin groups played by Merrill Bauer, an equally talented pupil of Ollimae Enlow Matthews and who has appeared in joint recital with Everard on different occasions. As a violinist, young Bauer showed an unusual poise combined with brilliant technique and a fine tonal quality.

His numbers were Mozart's "Minuet" and "The Bee" by Schubert and in the second group, "Nocturne in G Minor," (Chopin-Burnside), "The Maiden's Wish," (Chopin-MacMillan) and "Dance of the Elves," (Eberhardt).

His accompaniments were played by the young pianist, thus making an uninterrupted evening of playing for him, and all from memory, a remarkable feat in the opinion of those who heard the program.

Three Preludes and Fugues by Bach opened the evening followed by Beethoven's Sonata in D Minor, Opus 31, No. 2, The Allegro, Adagio and Allegretto movements were played magnificently. The Sonata being one of the most ambitious and difficult numbers a musician can add to his repertoire.

Six Chopin Etudes followed, one each in A flat Major, C sharp Minor, C Major, E flat Minor, F Major and C Major. The program ended with the two examples of modernism, "Capriccio" and "Nalla Waltz" by Dohnanyi. The two young artists were given an ovation at the program's close and both Mr. Fraser and Mrs. Matthews were congratulated upon the tangible results of their training.

members listened with interest. Mrs. Francis Shoen captured the mystery box and during a social hour, the hostesses served delicious home-made apple pie a la mode and coffee.

Friendly Group Meets In Gajeski Home For Cards

AUTUMN flowers in warm shades of red and orange were used to adorn the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gajeski, 1015 West Sixth street, when with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Powers, they entertained Tuesday night at the monthly card party of the Pythian Sisters.

In complete harmony were the bright orange card table covers and the gay score cards. Both bridge and 500 were played and among the players' choosing the former, Mrs. Rose Beard held high score and Mrs. Dennison low, while among the men, Mr. Dennison scored high and E. E. Frisby, low.

Mrs. J. A. Gardiner scored high among the feminine 500 players, and Mrs. Schlasman low, while Mr. Gardiner also took honors and William Lawrence was consoled. After the bestowal of the very attractive prizes, the hostesses substituted lovely linens for the card-table covers and served coffee and home-made cake.

Small Laddie Shares His Birthday With Playmates

TIME flew on fairy wings for a group of happy children who were invited Tuesday afternoon to the Raymond Marsile home at East Seventeenth and Tustin avenue, to help small Raymond Jr. celebrate his third birthday.

Raymond was a delighted small host, and thoroughly enjoyed the pretty gifts brought him, sharing them generously with all the small folk. An airplane wagon from his family, was perhaps the most popular and the youngsters took turn about in the rides.

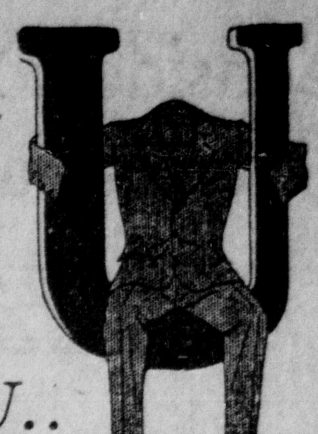

A group of mothers joined Mrs. Marsile and her sister, Mrs. George Nelson of Whittier, together with the two grandmothers and two great-grandmothers of the small Raymond, in enjoying the frolics of the children. Mrs. L. M. Ballard and Mrs. James Randall, mother and grandmother of the hostess, and Mrs. Fred Marsile and Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, mother and grandmother of Mr. Marsile, form the group with which the Marsile children, Raymond Jr. and his baby brother, Ronald, are blessed.

A birthday cake whose coconuticed surface bore three orchid candles, ice cream and candy formed the refreshments, with cookies provided for the children too tiny to have cake. Favors were varicolored tarleton bags filled with candies, balloons and caps, while serpentine confetti delighted childish hearts.

Older friends and mothers of tiny guests asked to enjoy the afternoon in addition to those already named were Mesdames Ernest Winbiger, Neal Mitchell, Raymond Prothero, Frank Whitmore, Benny Osterman, Edward Mueller, Hugh Osborn, Guy Edwards, Horace Snow and Myrtle Jackson, while the children were Raymond's little brother, Ronald, Jeanne Reuter, Shirley Lindgren, Beulah Jeanne Osborn, Dorothy Swindler, Patay Ruth Mitchell, Jack Howard, Carol Louise Grice, Charles Mueller, Leonard and Floyd Edwards, Johnny Osterman, Willis Whitmore, Jeanette Klatt, Sadie Marie Osterman, Bobbie and Janet Winbiger, Billy, Marilyn and Edwina Maag, David Carmichael Jr., Wayne Carothers, Glenn Jr. and Donald Wright of Anaheim, Patty Jean Swarthout, Lorne and Aileen Phips, Beverly and Peggy Biggs of Long Beach; Raymond and Theodore Prothero of El Toro.

WINONA WINTER, MUSICAL COMEDY STAR AND DOLORES DEL RIO TO BE ON PROGRAM

Upper and lower left, two views of Winona Winter, musical comedy star, who will appear on the program, Monday night, at the meeting of the junior chamber of commerce; upper right, Blanche Mehaffey, Universal star, former member of the Ziegfeld "Midnight Follies," who also will be on the program; lower right, Dolores del Rio, Spanish star, 1925 Wampus baby star, who will be seen on the same program with Miss Winter, Miss Mehaffey, Francis X. Bushman and several other well known theatrical persons.

More talent has been lined up for the Monday night de luxe meeting of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce than has previously been announced, according to Ray Crum, in charge of arrangements for the entertainment.

Crum today stated that Miss Winona Winter, noted musical comedy star, of New York, now a permanent resident of Hollywood, and Miss Dolores del Rio, famous Spanish motion picture actress, had promised to be members of the party of honored guests, which also will include Francis X. Bushman, Blanche Mehaffey and possibly several others equally prominent.

Tickets have been placed on sale in the White Cross and Mateer drug stores. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Miss del Rio was "discovered" in Los Angeles. Her husband is a member of the Mexican diplomatic corps and Miss del Rio, who was named as one of the 1925 Wampus baby stars, was vaulted into immediate fame once given an opportunity.

Because she has become a permanent resident of Los Angeles and loves this part of the country, Winona Winter has just refused an offer to return to the metropolis of the east to take the lead in another musical comedy that will open on Broadway.

Miss Winter declined because acceptance would have required her spending the coming winter in New York.

Instead, Miss Winter, who was the star in "The Trial Honeymoon" and who co-starred with Blanche Sweet in "The Broadway Whirl," will confine her stage career in Los Angeles for the present in vaudeville. In the musical comedy stage to go on the Keith circuit.

HARD ON SHINS

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Because the Charleston is ruinous to the "temper, harmony, shine and silk stockings of the customers of the dancing establishments," it has been banned by the dancing masters of the larger suburban palaces. In an official communique the dancing masters asserted there was no room in most of the halls when "people are kicking in all directions."

HOW SHOCKING

PARIS, Sept. 23.—A party of foreigners entered a box in one of the big music halls. The women were elaborately gowned, the men in evening clothes. The theater was hot. Suddenly one of the men arose, removed his coat and hung it over the back of his chair. The audience showed no surprise, but down the line of young women on the stage ran a distinct murmur of indignation.

PLAYERS PLAN ACTIVITIES FOR WINTER SEASON

A hint of the contemplated winter activities of Santa Ana Community Players was given after the meeting of the executive board, called for Tuesday night, in the William Cummings home, by the Players' president, Lynn H. Crawford.

Associated with Crawford on the executive board are Miss Norma Wingood, secretary; Fred Rafferty, past president; Mrs. Cummings, Miss Hazel Bemus, Ernest Crozier Phillips, former director; Robert Northcross, Alex. Brownridge, Arthur Collins, Fred Taylor and M. Burr Wellington.

Of this group, Miss Bemus, Mrs. Cummings, Crawford and Collins were named as a committee to revise the constitution of the organization, eliminating unnecessary features and simplifying the whole. This will be ready for presentation at the first informal meeting of the year, scheduled for Thursday night, October 7, in The Barn. No regular program will be planned for the night, but instead the members will be given opportunity to present ideas for the winter program, not only of the informal meetings in The Barn, but also for the series of plays.

Among the possibilities of the winter is that of obtaining the Temple theater for performances. The theater has been dark for many weeks and it is hoped that it may be found possible to use it for Players' performances, as it was proven an ideal place when used heretofore, notably for "Yellow Jacket."

No Director Chosen

No director has been chosen as yet. Ernest Crozier Phillips announced definitely that he would be unable to serve.

An effort will be made to secure George Gerwing, former director and long an assistant director with Phillips, to return and assume the place. At present, Gerwing is considering a four years' engagement in the Orient, but it is hoped that his final decision will be in favor of his home city.

President Lynn Crawford had many plans to present at the board meeting, all of which were discussed generally with a view to selecting the best for presentation in open meeting of the Players. Among these was that of appointing a financial head to formulate plans for the ticket campaign. The idea of sustaining membership, which has proved successful in the past, again will be adopted and an effort made to increase the list of such members in order to provide a satisfactory working fund for the opening of the season.

AMERICAN WIFE OF FRENCH ACE WINS DIVORCE

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Consuelo Hatmaker, American wife of Capt. Charles Nungesser, the famous French flying ace, has been given a divorce by the court here.

Her charge was abandonment. Mrs. Nungesser is a daughter of the former noted beauty, Nellie Sands, of New York, and James Hatmaker.

The Nungessers were married in Paris July 28, 1923, when the bride was only 19 years old. They disagreed last year and in October Mrs. Nungesser applied for a divorce and later returned to her home in the United States. Nungesser followed her to America and induced her to return to Paris again. After two weeks, however, the wife declared, her husband had abandoned her.

Gladys Virginia Watson Ziegler also has been given a divorce from William Ziegler Jr. They were married in New York Dec. 11, 1912, and have two children.

Mrs. Imogene Letson Liggett has been given a final decree of divorce from John Liggett. They were married in St. Clair, Mich., Aug. 11, 1903. Abandonment was charged.

A decree of divorce has been registered here in favor of Mrs. Jeane Couax Malhos from Pierre Malhos. No details were given in the decree.

There is scarcely a motor car of importance today that does not reflect in either design or practice the influence of Walter P. Chrysler and his engineers. This is because in the past three years the organization of which Mr. Chrysler is the head has pioneered more improvements in the automobile than had been brought forth in the preceding decade.

The result has been quality beyond comparison and now Mr. Chrysler further emphasizes this quality—makes it more than ever outstanding in all price classes—by his plan of Standardized Quality.

Mr. Chrysler is the first and only large scale manufacturer building four cars under one name and one management in one group of unified plants on a standardized quality basis. This standardization of quality is the result of an extraordinary complete coordination of engineering and manufacturing facilities and resources.

Thus every motorist is enabled to buy in any of the four general price classifications, with complete assurance of receiving all the brilliancy and dependability of service for which Chrysler has established a reputation throughout the world.

DEVELOPMENT SECTION

SECTION TWO SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1926 PAGES SEVEN TO TWELVE

IDEAS and Ideals

Orange county has one striking feature that cannot fail to make a favorable impression upon any observing person entering the county—when you enter Orange county by automobile, you encounter an excellent road at the county line.

A most impressive example of this feature exists in the middle of Carbon canyon. Coming down through the canyon from San Bernardino county, the motorist worries over 10 miles or more of road that is rough enough to thoroughly test the workmanship of the sturdiest of cars. Driving suddenly upon a comparatively smooth pavement at the Orange county line, after jolting through this pitted, corrugated and dusty highway, the driver spontaneously calls down a blessing upon the people of Orange county.

Perhaps, to emphasize the contrast, the "Welcome to Orange County" sign should be changed to read: "Welcome to Orange County and Good Roads."

Coming into Orange county, a splendid pavement greets the motorist at the county line between Norwalk and Buena Park. This feature exists in Santa Ana canyon, on the Whittier boulevard, and at virtually all other main road entrances to this county.

The one outstanding exception to the rule is the strip of pavement just west of Seal Beach. Coming into Orange county from Long Beach is a quarter of a mile of road that is bad enough to counteract any favorable impression that may have been held by a motorist, who has entered the county from any other point. This bit of highway is probably rougher than any unpaved mountain road in the county. Fortunately, the county line at that point is not conspicuous, but the condition of that road has not improved in the past two or three years.

Recently, an effort was made to patch the road but it still is a nightmare to motorists. This particular road is one of the heaviest traveled roads in the county, thousands of cars going over it daily.

START WORK ON 2 $5000 HOMES HERE

Construction work on two $5000 homes were started here today. J. M. Talcott, of 1910 North Main street, plans an eight room duplex at 302-4 South Main street. The contract is held by H. E. Pratt, of Anaheim. James R. Scudder, of 1513 West Eighth street, will build a six-room house at 1524 West Ninth street. The contractor is V. J. Anderson.

Anderson, who is local builder for Pacific Ready Cut homes, has been active at Newport, Balboa and Balboa Island during the summer. Anderson will welcome inspection of the home during the course of construction and will keep it open a few days after its completion.

C. C. Rogers, of 1406 South Van Ness street, has secured a permit for the erection of a residence at 2457 Heliotrope drive at an estimated cost of $4500. The owner will direct the work. The residence will have six rooms.

A house and a garage to require the expenditure of $4000 will be built at 1249 South Van Ness street by Guy Matties, of Orange. E. C. Rogers is the contractor.

George Styring, of 1118 Orange avenue, plans the erection of a residence and a garage at 1110 South Van Ness street at a cost of $4000.

NEW SKY ROAD PLANNED FOR LAGUNA BEACH BY THURSTON

Famous Colorado Drive To Be Surpassed At Artists' Colony, Backers Believe

WORK COMMENCED ON FIRST UNIT

View From Top Of Ridge Is Declared Finest To Be Found In America

Hollywood Talent Will Be Featured At Junior Chamber Meet

Surpassing in range and variety of scenic beauty the famous sky-line drive of Canyon City, Colo., a drive will be built on the hills back of Laguna Beach that is destined to be known as one of the chief attractions of Orange county, if not of California. The first unit of the drive has been started by Joseph S. Thurston.

A road 40 feet wide has been graded from a point at the end of the present subdivision to the end of the Thurston property at the top of the range of hills. From that point to the top of the divide there is a trail that has been used to reach the Lost Ranch. This road also leads to the 15-acre park given by Mr. Thurston to Laguna Beach in the gum grove where the Easter sunrise services are held. It is on private property, however, and negotiations are now under way for an easement through two pieces of property that will permit the Thurston road to be continued to the top of the divide.

Those who have made the trip say the scenery cannot be equalled anywhere in America. The top of the ridge affords a view of the blue Pacific on one side and the Santa Ana mountain range on the other, while to the north the Laguna canyon may be seen winding its way toward Irvine.

The panoramic view of Laguna Beach and the coast line from the section of the road already graded is one of the finest in all of the state.

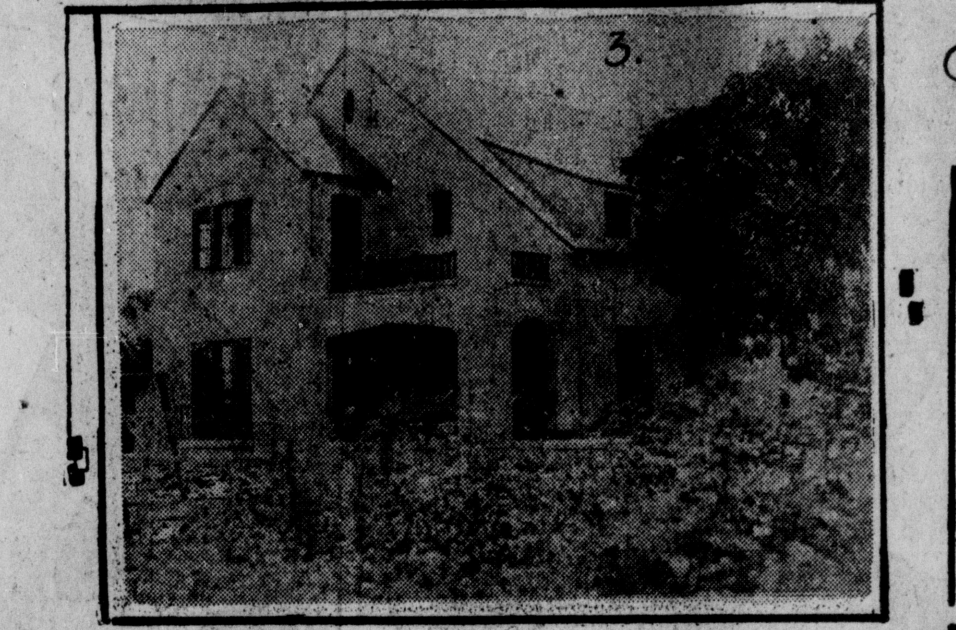

The question of a secondary boulevard for Laguna Beach was agitated a few months ago. At that time, it was proposed to build a scenic drive that would wind around the hills about on a level with the school house. This road was to cross the canyon road and continue on to Cody Heights above the Laguna cliffs. No definite action was taken because of the cost.

If the Thurston scenic drive is continued across the top of the hills, it will eventually be brought back down into the town by way of another canyon.

BEANS BRING THOUSANDS TO RANCHERS OF NEARBY AREA

Wintersburg, Smeltzer And Springdale Residents Are Enjoying Large Returns

$30,000 SPENT ON THREE NEW HOMES

Enrollment Figures Of Grammar School Show The Growth Of District

When D. E. Smeltzer, of Kansas City, discovered, many years ago, that pea lands were suitable for raising celery after the water had been drained off, little did he think that his discovery would result in the district around Wintersburg and Smeltzer becoming one of the most fertile farming sections in Orange county.

Residents of the Wintersburg, Smeltzer and Springdale districts are erecting fine houses today, after spending years on their ranches growing celery, corn, potatoes, beets and beans. Farmers in the district have prospered. First, they prospered from their celery. Then, as the ground was tilled and became dryer, other products made their appearance and the country around the communities gradually changed from a celery center to a vegetable center, with sugar beets playing an important part.

This year, another important change was made in the district. Farmers did not plant beets and vegetables and the ground once more experienced a change. Beans are the main crop of the district this year and hundreds of acres are planted to beans. The bean crop in the district this year is expected to bring far greater returns than any previous crop.

Three new homes costing more than $30,000 have been erected in the district during the past few months. They are the dwellings of W. F. Slater, A. E. Ruoff and John Kettler. The Kettler and Ruoff homes are situated on large ranches near the Long Beach Country club holdings, and are just now being completed. The Kettler home is being constructed by Ridenour brothers, Huntington Beach contractors, and is one of the finest in Orange county. Mr. and Mrs. Kettler, who now reside in Santa Ana, plan to move to the new residence in the near future.

While farming is the main occupation in the Wintersburg district, many other occupations occupy the time of the residents. One of the most unique businesses is a gold fish farm. Thousands of gold fish are produced each on this farm, resulting in big returns to the owner, a Japanese.

Since the recent oil boom in the western section of Huntington Beach, many families have been forced from their homes in the beach city and, according to reports, many of these persons are moving to Wintersburg. The town is situated close to the oil fields and provides excellent home sites for oil workers. Many houses have been moved into the town during

DECKER PRAISES PROPOSED BUILDING CODE FOR COAST

(Special to the Register)

SAN JOSE, Sept. 23.—"We need a new building code from beginning to end. That's what we are getting in our proposed uniform building code for the Pacific coast—the most modern and best code that the combined engineering and architectural genius and the best minds among building inspection experts of the coast can devise."

W. S. Decker, speaking, Decker, who is building inspector for the city of Santa Ana, is one of the active participants in the fifth annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Building Officials' conference, now in session here. He was, incidentally, one of the large group which has tolled for many months in preparing the final preliminary draft of the code, and has co-operated with the southern district of the California conferences on the code.

"Santa Ana will derive the benefit of expert advice which she could probably not buy otherwise, thanks to this conference," Decker declared. "Uniformity in building regulation is necessary to make it possible for architects, engineers and contractors to compete readily outside their own home area. This will result in economies to these men and to the ultimate owners through saving of valuable time otherwise required for analysis of local building ordinances to avoid

HALF INTEREST IN PROPERTY CLAIMED

A half interest in property at Laguna Beach, listed in the estate of the late Mabel A. Hibben, really belongs to Katherine A. Rauser, the latter alleges, in a suit just filed in superior court against William D. Baker, executor of the Hibben estate.

Mabel Hibben originally owned a half interest in the property and purchased the other half from Walter J. Hoopes on behalf of Katherine Rauser, with $750 supplied by Katherine Rauser, the complaint states.

The court is asked to declare that the interest was purchased by Mabel Hibben as trustee for Katherine Rauser and that she is the owner of it.

Attorney William L. Chitty, Los Angeles, represents the plaintiff.

Marry in haste to repeat at leisure

That doesn't sound exactly right, but it illustrates what we want to say. A man marrying a wife ought to shop around a little and get the best article available. Then when he finds her, and she proves to be all wool and a yard wide, he ought to stick to her. There are a lot of disappointments, because they don't always pick good ones.

It's like that with rubber tires—and if everybody looked them over carefully there would be more good tires in the family. Those who take our advice are satisfied, and more.

Organization of a Veterans' Welfare league, the purpose of which will be to support the $20,000,000 veterans' farm and loan purchase act to be voted on in the November election, has been effected in Los Angeles, and several other cities in Southern California, including Santa Ana, probably will have such an organization within a short time.

The league will become a statewide organization, composed of business men and others who are in no way connected with the American Legion, but who desire to help in the work of aiding the ex-service men to obtain loans for the purchase of homes and farms.

State Com. John F. Slavich has given his approval to the formation of the volunteer organization.

AT THE THEATERS

Colleen Moore who plays leading role in "It Must Be Love," picture showing the next three days at the Yost Broadway theater.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
A peppy and speedy re-a, summer-time show, with plenty of rollicking mirth, jazzy stepping and entrancing singing, headed by the Claire and Wilnot revue will be on view at the Yost Broadway theater for three days starting tonight. Not one of the acts infringes on the other, and the whole together make up an unusually good program.

The Claire and Wilnot revue of five people is assuredly one of the best of the torch-and-chorus offerings. Each one of the company has a distinctive reputation in the realm of vaudeville, and the whole has been blended together in a fast exposition of steps. Miss Claire is a former star of "Artists and Models," while Lee Wilnot ranks as one of America's foremost eccentric dancers.

Laughter is claimed to be one of the greatest tonics for the human system. Billy Beard, "The Party From the South," is the ambassador of Laughter, and as a plenipotentiary from the Land of Laughs, will distribute with lavish hand a cargo of comedy ideas of irresistible humor.

Hack and Dale sail through their spot like a house afire in a routine of stunts which is vastly different from the usual run of acts of this nature. One of the men is attired as a bellhop, the other as a guest in the hotel, and both display excellent form in their hand-to-hand and kindred specialties.

Colleen Moore in "It Must Be Love," is the screen offering at the Yost Broadway.

WEST COAST-WALKER
"One Minute to Play," the Red Grange starring production that starts tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater, is said to be the greatest football picture ever made. A plain and direct story, simply told, a tremendous screen star in the person of "Red" Grange, goes to make a vibrant, convincing and vital picture. The direction, story and photography are all that can be desired and there is real football, without any of the usual stupidities which are so annoying to that part of the public that knows.

Byron Morgan wrote a story filled with humor, human interest, and thrills; and Director Sam Wood translated it into a picture that carries punch and is altogether one of the best pieces of entertainment in years.

On the stage is Fanchon and Marco's "Specialty" idea, featuring "Madcap" Nell Kelly, who has just finished a triumphant engagement at Lowe's State theater in Los Angeles, where she has been featured for more than four consecutive months. Way Watts and his band are also featured on the stage. Others on the bill include the Gibson sisters, Roy Scott, famous tenor, and others.

YOST THEATER

Ruth Mix's ambition in life seems to be to break her neck and to do it in as highly spectacular manner as possible!

Sounds rather far-fetched, doesn't it? But Ward Lascelle, the producer of "That Girl Oklahoma," Ruth Mix's startling western thrill picture, is authority for the grim statement that Ruth Mix really tried to outlive the old-time cowboys used in "That Girl Oklahoma," and in so trying ran a desperate chance of killing herself outright or being maimed for life.

Fortunately for her, Ruth Mix rides without an apparent motivating force, subconsciously as it were, so when things get warm Ruth

Harold ("Red") Grange, best known of all football players, comes to the West Coast-Walker theater here tonight in his first motion picture, "One Minute to Play."

The film is said to be a sweeping tale of college life, vibrant with tender romance and sparkling with comedy. Hardened critics have proclaimed it the best football picture or photoplay of college life ever screened.

Members of the Santa Ana high school grid squad will be special guests of Resident Manager C. E. Walker at tonight's show.

BONES OF PREHISTORIC IMPERIAL ELEPHANTS FOUND BY EXCAVATORS IN SAND PITS AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

Prehistoric elephant remains 40,000 to 200,000 years old, found in sand pits north of Huntington Beach. Upper left, Director William Alanson Bryan and Paleontologist J. W. Femur bone and one of the toe bones of another huge elephant of prehistoric days, also found in pit, are on the table beside her. Lower left, imperial elephant taken from Brea pit and mounted in Los Angeles museum. Lower right, C. C. VALUE OF TEAM WORK IS TOLD KIWANIS CLUB

A seven-line horse team pulling a capacity load across the swirling waters of a treacherous river bed filled with quicksand—horses frothing at the mouths—stretching of traces—dragging of hoofs, rumbling of wheels, pulls on lines to the accompaniment of shouts by dust-eating skinner. The huge load advances step by step until the other side is reached, and the team proceeds safely on a level road.

Such a picture was painted yesterday by Prof. Herbert E. Harris, of Whittier college, to illustrate the meaning of team work, this being the subject of an address delivered before the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, at St. Ann's Inn.

The speaker was introduced by Edward McWilliams, vice president of the First National bank, of Santa Ana, who acted as chairman of the program.

Similarity Is Told
Making use of the parable, Professor Harris told his listeners that there is a striking similarity in the work of a string of horses and the teamwork of a body of men. Like every horse in a team is different, so is every member in an organization. Each has his own way and notions until trained to pull together.

"Teamwork is the most essential lesson in life," the educator declared, accentuating its need in our present-day complex society. The speaker went on to say that there is a place for every man in the affairs of the world. He added, however, that the man must be fitted for his work. Like the skinner sometimes is forced to crack the whip to get the maximum effort out of his team, it is now and then necessary to whip slackers and drones into line to secure desired results, Harris observed.

Taking a fume at the pessimists, who walk around saying that there is no chance for the young people today in the world of business, the professor said that there is every opportunity for a young man, who is willing to align himself with a responsible concern, providing he is of the right sort.

Value of Teamwork
Stressing the value of teamwork among nations, Professor Harris said that today no nation can afford to walk in single harness. The preservation of the world's peace and the furtherance of harmonious international relations depend in the largest measure on teamwork on the part of all concerned, he said.

He ventured the opinion that the service clubs would be the greatest factors in promoting peace between nations, as no war would be fought without the consent and approval of the business interests of the country.

Speaking further, the Whittier man took pains to point out that he is not a pacifist and that he believes in maintaining a sufficient force for defensive purposes. Neither would he be a party to sending a ship around the world flying the white flag, he observed, in explaining his position.

Business matters acted upon at the meeting related to arrangements for the coming state convention, to be held in San Jose. President W. Verne Whitson announced that the educational revolving fund of $200 has been raised by voluntary contributions among the members. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, told the Kiwanians that a member of the club has volunteered to finance the college education of a Santa Ana high school graduate.

A pleasing number on the program was the appearance of Mrs. Cecil Fross Willis, local contralto, who rendered several vocal selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. Lester Carden.

MAN'S DESIRE FOR "LOUDLY" COLORED CLOTHING ANSWERED IN 1926 MALE FASHION EDICT

At last man's secret passion for fancy raiment is to have full sway in fashions. No longer do the blacks, plain blues and dark browns predominate. Cedar Wood, which is a light tan, and browns, of bright plaid or stripes, lead in the fall styles.

Some of the masculine followers of Dame Fashion were a little worried over the predictions of the Scottish tailors, who said that loose coats, trousers flapping loosely several inches above the shoe tops, and derbies, with low crowns, would be worn this winter.

But Santa Ana clothiers say such styles will not be worn this year in the United States. Three of the leading stores agree on men's fashions for this winter, so one feels safe in stating that the styles will be thus and so.

For instance, suits—the coats will be rather loose and easy fitting and worn shorter than they were two or even one year ago, although they could not be called short.

Double breasted and two-button styles are the favorites. The trousers will be rather long, with two-inch cuffs and measuring 18 and 19 inches in circumference. England seems to be the originator and determining factor in men's styles, just as France is for women. The Prince of Wales is given credit for really being the dictator, for when a new style is created the tailors hold their breath until His Royal Highness gives it the "once-over," and expresses his approval or disapproval. If it pleases him, you may rest assured that it will not be long until the majority is wearing clothes just like the prince.

The English are past masters in the art of looking pleasantly sloppy in their clothes. Always immaculate, correctly pressed and creased, yet the clothing gives the appearance of indifference. It is this manner that the American man is trying to acquire and, judging from high school youths to retired bankers and farmers, he is fast attaining his heart's desire.

Hats are of light shade—one might almost say bright—in comparison to what they previously have been. Light tans and browns and grays lead, with bands of bright color. One is surprised that there can be so many different styles in men's hats. It hasn't been long since a man's hat was just a hat, something to wear on his head to keep from catching cold. Now he has a street or business hat, a dress hat, a sports hat or cap—each of different style and color. Shirts are of light colors and must have a fancy pattern. They must not match the suit. Ties are always bright—the brighter the better.

After hearing all these important details of style, it is natural to think that when correctly dressed a man would somewhat resemble Joseph's coat or Sitting Bull. But after a short time spent with a good tailor he steps forth clothed so that Eve's daughters seldom look in the other direction.

California lead the world in sports clothes, according to the buyer in one large store. This is due to the fact that Southern California is an all-year playground. At one time it was thought that unless a style came from the east it was not correct, but the idea is reversed now and the newest styles in sport clothing originate on the west coast. The knickers and sweaters are most favored sport wear and are worn not only for sport but in school and on the street. One man was bemoaning the fact not long ago that the time soon would come when he could not buy real trousers, but would have to wear "bloomers." For his benefit one tailor was asked if there was a possibility of this and he answered that he thought that the knicker perhaps would always be good for sport, but that they never would be adopted for regular wear in place of long trousers.

MIAMI ISSUES NATIONAL PLEA FOR STORM AID

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23.—The following proclamation was issued here late yesterday to the American people for relief for Miami and Dade counties:

"Six days ago this city of 200,000 persons was one of the most prosperous, beautiful and delightful communities in this country. Today, as a result of a disastrous tropical hurricane, it lies prostrate. We have 100 dead and nearly a thousand patients in the general and emergency hospitals, hundreds of them grievously injured.

5000 Homes Wrecked
"Food and other necessary supplies are coming in in great quantities and we have been blessed by the arrival of a number of physicians and nurses and ample medical supplies for the immediate present, but more than 5000 homes have been either entirely destroyed or made unfit for human habitation.

"Twenty-five thousand persons have been rendered homeless. These are being cared for in thousands of instances by neighbors who themselves are suffering. Miami needs money quickly and in large amounts.

"So we send out this appeal, believing that the people of this nation will respond cheerfully and quickly to this great necessity.

"Contributions should be sent addressed to John B. Reilly, treasurer of the relief funds committee, Miami, Fla., or the American National Red Cross, which has been designated by President Coolidge to raise necessary relief funds and of which James H. Gillman, of Miami, is treasurer of the local chapter.

Red Cross in Charge
"The American Red Cross has been placed in full charge of the rehabilitation of Miami and all funds sent for relief will be spent for relief without deduction for administrative costs.

7 DAYS REMAIN TO REGISTER IN FALL ELECTION

The task of registering approximately 5000 Orange county voters, who will want to qualify themselves for balloting at the November general election, has entered the "hurry-up" stage. It was announced today by County Clerk J. M. Backs, who is registrar of the county.

The registration books will be closed October 2, so that, after today, only seven days remain in which to qualify. Under the California election laws, voters must register 30 days before any election, to be entitled to vote at such election. The general election will be held on November 2.

The same rule governs transfers of residence. Any voter who has moved from one precinct to another, since last registering, must transfer his registration not later than 30 days before any election at which he expects to cast his ballot. If the change of precinct is made less than 30 days before the election, the voter is not required to transfer his registration for such election.

Consequently, Backs states, his office and field staff of deputies again is busy with receiving registrations and transfers. The registration of Orange county for the primary election, August 31, was 45,509 and Backs predicts that the total will mount to 45,000 for the general election.

OAKS PROTEST L. A. DEAL FOR BOEHLER

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—A petition protesting the transfer of Pitcher George Boehler, of the Brooklyn National league club to the Los Angeles team and requesting that he be awarded to Oakland was registered today with Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Del Howard, part owner of the Oakland club, the petitioner, claims that Boehler should be awarded to the Oaks under the draft agreement which requires that a player drafted from a Class AA club must be offered to that club before being turned over to another.

Boehler went from Oakland to Brooklyn. The Brooklyn club has promised Boehler to Los Angeles as part payment for Outfielder Arnold Stutz.

The first census in the United States was taken the year after George Washington was made president.

China War Balks Exploring Party

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the third Asiatic expedition, which for years has conducted scientific explorations in Mongolia, will begin preparations at once for the 1927 expedition, he said on his arrival here from China.

Andrews arrived on the S. S. President Cleveland. He said the group of scientists was unable to reach the desert this year because of fighting north of Peking. The work next year will consist principally of search for traces of the earliest human beings.

DEMPSEY HEAVY FAVORITE TO BEAT TUNNEY Junior Collegians Play La Verne Saturday

GAME WILL BE FIRST OF YEAR IN SANTA ANA

Smith, Kelly, Clapper And Moon Named as Starting Backfield By Harris

Santa Ana's first full-fledged football fust of the 1926 season will be played at Poly field Saturday afternoon when Coach Graham Harris' Santa Ana junior college varsity lines up against La Verne college at 3 o'clock.

Coach Harris, never so optimistic over the prospect of winning a championship as he is this year, will put his charges through their final drill tomorrow.

A tentative starting lineup was selected by Harris today. It is virtually the same combination that has been drilling together for the last week. One change, however, is a surprise. Because of his fine showing in scrimmage Captain Jimmie Smith has usurped the position of halfback that was held by Gerald ("Pete") Twist, one of the recruits from the Santa Ana high school team of last year.

In the backfield, Lyle Kelley will call the signals at quarterback, Lester Moon and Captain Smith will be at the halves and Arthur Clapper will be at fullback.

The line positions will be taken care of by Lon McIntire and Clarence Trickey, ends; William Poe and Charles Crawford, tackles; Irwin Sipherd and Keith Rogers, guards, and Edward Adams at center.

Most of the players on the local squad will be given a chance sometime during the contest. Harris is not at all certain that the game will be one-sided. LaVerne college, a denominational school of the Brethren church, located north of Los Angeles, is a four year school that plays against some of the small colleges of the Southland.

Despite the fact that a few collegians have been forced to quit the team due to pressure of work, there remain 28 candidates rivaling for the regular berths. A second team is being organized and games are being scheduled for them to play. Next Tuesday they will travel to Huntington Beach to play the high school and the following Tuesday a return match will be played here.

The junior college varsity has a full schedule of games each Saturday. The last open date was taken by a game with the freshmen of the University of California.

THOUSANDS STORM BIG FIGHT CITY; 140,000 EXPECTED TO SEE DEMPSEY, TUNNEY MIXUP

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Some 50,000 fight fans, ranging from Newport millionaires to roadside hot dog vendors, woke up in Philadelphia today and gazed upon overcast skies.

A threat of rain was in the air; the thermometer read 66 and the weather man said perhaps showers. It gave a hint that top coats would be welcome tonight when some 140,000 people gather in the great Sesqui-centennial stadium to see Gene Tunney, the eminent Shakespearean scholar and Jack Dempsey, the husband of Estelle Taylor, decide the world heavyweight championship.

But after the first disappointment over the weather, the crowds began to forget their troubles and everyone settled down to the business of getting ready for the big show. For T. S. Rickard that meant the settling of more lawsuits, the first legal encounter of the day being an injunction hearing at 10 a. m. and for the rest of the crowd it meant the work of getting to the stadium.

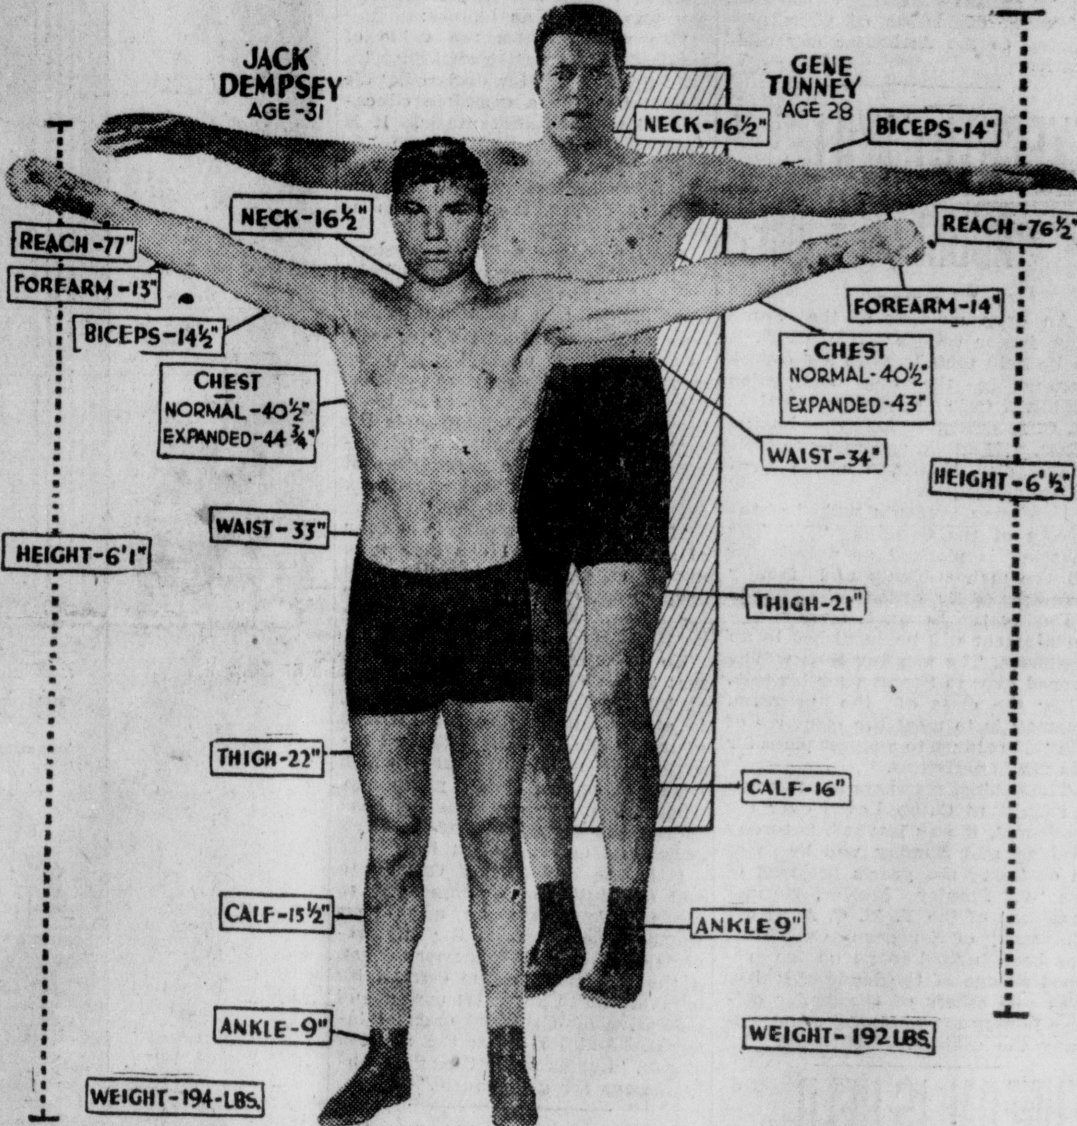

Hotel Lobbies Packed

The crowds were in Philadelphia almost in full force last night. Hotel lobbies were packed. The streets were crowded until well after midnight. Taxicabs were as scarce as water in the Sahara. Hotel accommodations were scarcer than that.

But if hundreds of the common people had trouble getting accommodations they can gain some consolation from the fact that they were not alone. For instance Vincent Astor and W. K. Vanderbilt attempted to get hotel rooms last night and couldn't. They spent the night in New York. And Frank Cook, of "Cook's Tours," whose firm will find accommodations for visitors to Europe, South Africa, Tiddly-Addley island or where would you like to go, spent three hours before he got himself a room in a hotel so obscure that not even

DEMPSEY - COMPARING 'EM - TUNNEY

DEMPSEY WILL HAVE NO ALIBI IF GENE WINS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Jim Jeffries said after he had lost the world's heavyweight championship to Jack Johnson that he had been drugged by a double-crossing friend in his camp.

Johnson said he lost his title to Jess Willard because he knew "there wasn't any use in getting up." He only smiled when asked why he had put his hands over his eyes to keep the sun out when he was on the floor.

Willard, when he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in Toledo, said that Dempsey had his hands packed and that he hadn't trained enough.

The records are not clear, that, with the exception of John L. Sullivan's "I'm glad the championship remains in America" any defeated heavyweight champion advertised some "smart money" in New York still was being offered on Tunney.

Will Jack Have Alibi? The thought follows—what excuse will Jack Dempsey have if he loses his title to Gene Tunney tonight?

Perhaps he may say that he was out of the ring too long but he doesn't look it and he has taken better care of himself and lived stricter during the period of his temporary retirement than any other fighter ever did.

He can't say that he was drugged, but he is surrounded by a shock proof entourage of friends and employees.

He won't say that he was beaten by loaded hands because he isn't that type. He won't say "it was no use to get up" because he will get up by instinct if his legs will hold him.

It is very likely that he will say that he was beaten by a better man.

Admits He's Good

Dempsey never has been a braggart. He admits that he is good but he has the record to show for it and does not have to quote his personal opinions.

A heavyweight champion always is surrounded by "yes men," but Dempsey never has been influenced by "yesing."

They told him that Carpenter was a set-up, that Firpo was a

INJUNCTION TO STOP BIG BOUT IS DISMISSED

Critics Almost Unanimous In Belief Champion Will Win Within Five Rounds

By HENRY L. FARRELL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—With a threat of injunctions lifted from the fight for the heavyweight championship of the world, scheduled for tonight in the Sesqui-centennial stadium between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, thousands of fans poured into the city today with tickets or taking a chance on being able to buy seats for the event.

Hours before noon the early trains were unloading thousands who with convention delegates and the exposition tourists filled the city's streets and crowded all transportation facilities.

"There's hardly a seat left," Tex Rickard, the promoter, said before he started for court again. "There's a few cheap reserved seats in the box office, but they will be gone before noon."

Philadelphia fans and all the outside customers gathering from

Prompt and accurate returns from the Dempsey-Tunney match will be megaphoned by The Register tonight. Service will begin about 5 o'clock, Santa Ana time.

The principals will not enter the ring until about 5:45 o'clock, local time, but the interesting "color stuff" and preliminary results will be of entertainment to fistic followers.

The Register's leased wire leading directly to the ring-side will enable this newspaper to give details quickly and accurately.

nearly every spot on the continent figured little on the possibility of the fight being stopped and were talking of betting odds on the fight.

Dempsey was a three to one favorite to win. There was little betting of big sums, although it was said some "smart money" in New York still was being offered on Tunney.

Virtually all of the boxing writers of the United States and several from England and France who have seen Dempsey and Tunney in their training camps think Dempsey will win within five or six rounds.

There are a few, however, who have been attracted by Tunney's insistence that he has been destined to be the champion. And there are a few others who believe it is in the cards for Tunney to win. Not that anything has been "arranged," but for the reason that Bill Tilden, Bobby Jones, Paavo Nurmi, Helen Wills and other supposed vineyarders have been defeated within recent months.

The writer thinks that Dempsey will win within five rounds and if the fight goes the limit of 10 rounds that Dempsey will win for the same reason he won from Tommy Gibbons after 15 rounds in Shelby. That reason was that he did all the forcing and all the fighting.

CHAMP HEAVY FAVORITE IN WAGERING

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—With little money on the challenger in sight, the most popular betting on the heavyweight championship fight in Wall street today was a three to two bet that Gene Tunney will not answer the bell for the sixth round.

Current-raised will be played by Class C eleven while games between Class B teams will be held on Fridays, on grounds opposite those on which the first strings tangle.

Only one change was made in the official schedule, drawn several weeks ago. Tustin's game with Anaheim will be played at Tustin instead of at Anaheim on October 30, it was ruled. Tustin previously had been allowed only two home games whereas every other school in the league had been given three. Tustin except Anaheim which was allowed four.

FAST WORKING HURLERS

A large majority of the truly great pitchers of the past 30 years have been fast workers.

By that statement I mean they didn't waste any time walking around the pitcher's box or resorting to any other dilatory tactics which tended to irritate the batsman and thereby break down his efficiency.

Consider the careers of Mathewson, Johnson, Alexander, Walsh, Bender and many others as proof of the theory that the great pitchers work fast. Seldom did games go over one hour and 30 minutes with any of the above named pitchers performing.

Despite this irrefutable evidence, it is surprising how many major league managers lean to the "take-your-time" theory relative to successful pitching.

That is one reason why the games of today drag far more than they did a score of years back.

What, then, are the rights of the pitcher and at the same time of the batsman in taking his time?

CASE OF GROVE

"Lefty" Grove, the sensational southpaw of the Philadelphia Athletics, was a fast worker in the minors and achieved great success.

When he joined the Athletics two years ago, his old manager, Jack Dunn at Baltimore, said he would win 20 games in his first year as a big leaguer. While he was apparent Grove had great stuff, he was unable to win consistently, although he showed flashes of remarkable ability.

Having a tendency to be wild, major league batters waited out Grove more than did the minor leaguers. This put him in the hole, necessitating that he come over with his fast one. If it was good, the batsman took a healthy cut at it.

The decision was finally reached that Grove was working too fast. At the start of the season it was rumored he had been instructed to count 15 after he got on the rubber before delivering the ball.

No doubt the original idea was to steady Grove rather than disconcert the batsman, although that may have also been a part of the scheme.

SCHEME WAS SUCCESS

Whatever the motive back of the count of 15 before pitching, it was a success. The unsteady Grove of 1925 was an entirely different pitcher, this year. He was a winner from the start.

Against no club in the American league has Grove met with more success than the Yankees. I think it was five straight victories he scored over the league leaders before suffering a defeat this year.

Frantic at the manner in which Grove had turned them back, the Yankees sought devious ways and means of off-setting his effectiveness.

I am told that in the first game the Yankees managed to send Grove to the showers, they adopted a policy of having the batsman count 10 as Grove got on the rubber and then step out.

This necessitated the calling of time by the umpire and rendered void the good that came to Grove as the result of a 15 count.

BEAT GROVE TWICE

It is obvious that if the batsman and pitcher kept up this stunt there would be no play. The batsman simply stepping out of the box two or three beats before the allotted 15 as counted by Grove.

Regardless of either system's efficiency, the fact remains that the Yankees twice defeated Grove by outcounting him, as it were.

I happened to be umpiring the double-header on Labor day at New York between these two clubs, which drew 82,000 people, the largest crowd ever at a regular season ball game.

Grove was sent in as relief pitcher with Tony Lazzeri at the bat. Twice Tony stepped out of the box just as Grove was about to pitch. It was apparent to me that the game would never be resumed if both continued such tactics.

I warned Lazzeri as to getting out of the box unless he had a legitimate reason and told Grove to continue to pitch if he did and I would rule on the situation. That ended the clowning.

However, I still stick to my original opinion, the fast working pitchers are invariably the best.

Callahan Offered Bout With Latzo

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—Mushy Callahan, former newsboy, no holder of the world's junior welterweight championship, has been offered a match in New York with Pete Latzo, welterweight title holder, according to Mushy's manager, Eddie Sears.

Channel Defeats Woman Aspirant

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 23.—The English channel defeated another English woman today. Miss E. L. Marriott, who entered the water last night at Cape Gris Nez, France, at 9 o'clock, abandoned her attempt to swim the channel at noon today.

Here's how Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will stack up in the heavyweight championship battle at Philadelphia tonight.

The chart shows but slight difference in the physical makeups of the two contenders. For instance, their necks, biceps, forearms, waists, thighs, calves and ankles run pretty even. Dempsey has a larger chest expansion though each has a "normal" of 40% inches.

Jack has a slight edge in reach, boasting 77 inches to 76 1/2 for Tunney, which advantage means little or less, however. In height Dempsey is also one-half inch taller.

Dempsey is expected to weigh about 184 pounds the day of the battle with Tunney probably at 192.

Dempsey is three years older than the challenger, being 31.

Summed up, Dempsey and Tunney are two of the "evenest" contenders, from the measurement standpoint, that ever battled for the world's heavyweight championship. As far as physiques are concerned they'll offer an exceedingly fitting contrast to the famous Jeffries-Fitzsimmons and Jeffries-Sharkey titular tussles of other days, and the Dempsey-Willard clash of seven years ago.

Jeffries, it will be recalled, out-weighted Fitzsimmons by 40 pounds or so while he towered several inches above the stocky Sharkey.

Dempsey conceded close to 60 pounds on the giant Willard at Toledo as well as several inches in height.

Great Britain sent nearly 30 million dollars worth of hosiery to other countries in the last year.

FOLDERS SHOW ORNAMENTS OF VARIOUS AGES

"There is enough of the pagan in most persons to cause them to be greatly interested in ornaments. Vividly colored drapery and pottery of various descriptions," said Miss Jeanette McFadden, as she turned plate after plate of one of the three new folders, "The Colored Ornament of All Historical Styles," prepared by Alexander Speltz.

The one which Miss McFadden was inspecting at the time was sub-titled "Prehistoric Ornament." It opened with pictures of ornaments and draperies found in the tomb of Anconia, that almost mythical ruler of the early inhabitants of Peru. Here were many curious things—vases of gold, anklets, bracelets, necklaces and many other pieces of jewelry not known today.

After several pages of illustrations, dealing with the ornaments of Peru, pictures of Egypt, including illustrations of ornaments taken from the tomb of the Egyptian ruler, El Amarna, were shown. Following were illustrations dealing with prehistoric ornaments found in the region of the Aegean sea, Greece, Etruria, Rome, India and Persia.

The most elaborate ornaments and drapery were those of the Persians and Hindus. Those of Persia, it was found, were wrapped up closely with the history of the Sassanian dynasty, during which time many of the famous jewels of Persia were found. Those of India dealt with the Buddhism religion and showed paintings and ornaments from the early temples.

"The folder on ornaments of the middle ages probably will interest more persons," said Miss McFadden, "for it is more closely in touch with affairs in which the modern person is interested. Here one finds wondrous golden vessels, inlaid with jewels, crucifixes, carved from some rare metal, and embroidered drapery, made, perhaps, at the cost of some woman's life, so intricate and perfect is design thereon. All of these things, especially in Germany, France, Italy and Spain, are interwoven with Christianity. For this was the time when the Christian first thought of ornamenting his church, making it a thing of exceptional beauty.

Carved, Painted Wood
"One of the most interesting sections of this folder is the part devoted to early Celtic art. There is little, except some few draperies and carved and painted wood work. But what is to be found, is beyond doubt, Celtic.

"Modern styles," continued Miss McFadden, "do not deal, as one would suppose, with the bangle and string of beads, as worn by the girl of today. Instead, modern ornament deals with things that are at least three or four generations old. Prominent in this folder is the place given to pottery and various vessels of gold and rock crystal, the latter proving very popular in bygone days. A part of the folder contains illustrations of mural decorations, which came into vogue with the Renaissance."

These three folders may be found at any time in the reference department of the city library.

TEACHER TRAINING CLASSES TO MEET

Under the direction of the community service department of the University of Southern California, three teacher training classes will meet to complete organization in the Santa Ana high school during the week of September 27.

On Monday afternoon, September 27, a course in the "Principal and His School" will be conducted by Dr. G. Vernon Bennett, the class designed particularly for those who are seeking school administrative credentials. "Principles of Secondary Education" will be in charge of Dr. Bennett on Monday night, from 7 to 8:20.

Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, director of Metropolitan College, University of Southern California, will head a Wednesday afternoon class in "Educational Tests and Measurements" in the Santa Ana high school, for which registration may be made at the second meeting of the group, on September 29, at 4 p. m.

Information may be secured regarding enrollment in these classes from Nadine Crump Howell, superintendent of community service, University of Southern California, in the Transportation building, Los Angeles.

GIRL AGAIN GIVEN TRIAL CONTINUANCE

Miss Ruth Kelley, pretty Hollywood girl, who yesterday was scheduled to appear in Judge J. F. Talbot's court on a charge of speeding, gained another continuance when her attorney called from Los Angeles and asked that the trial be put off for another week.

The case had been continued once before for a week. Miss Kelley was arrested by B. A. Hershey, city motorcycle officer, on August 20, charged with speeding 40 miles an hour on East First street. She pleaded not guilty to the charge and asked for a trial, but since that time has not appeared in Santa Ana. The case is set for next Wednesday, at 10 a. m.

SANTA ANA POST, AMERICAN LEGION, TO INSTALL NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS TONIGHT

Installation of new officers of Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion, is scheduled to take place at the second September meeting of the organization, to be held at 8 o'clock tonight.

Jules W. Markel, newly-elected post commander, is the principal officer to take his position tonight. Others are Carl Edgar, first vice commander; Franklin West, second vice commander; Elmer Schanley, adjutant; Roland Dye, chaplain, and W. H. Leach, sergeant-at-arms.

Collins Will Install
Sam Collins, of Long Beach, former state commander of the American Legion, department of California, will be the installation officer, according to an announcement made today by G. K. (Scoop) Scovel, retiring commander. Scovel will be a member of the post auxiliary committee.

Most of the recently-elected officers were officers of the post last year, being advanced this year to higher posts. Markel was first vice commander last year and Edgar was second vice commander. Schanley was re-elected, as was Roland Dye and W. H. Leach.

The elevation of Markel to commander of the organization was unanimous and followed several months of hard work by him in arranging for the Armistice day celebration.

Markel is a man to whom legion affairs are paramount and, aside from his general work as a contractor, most of his time is taken up by legion activities.

New Executive Body
New members of the executive committee will officially take office after tonight's meeting, although they will not take part in the installation ceremonies.

The new executive committee of the post is composed of O. A. Jacobs, R. H. McCalla, William Wieland, Charles Van Wyk and A. B. Berry.

Several important business matters also are scheduled to come up before tonight's meeting of the post, including discussion of plans pertaining to the Armistice day celebration.

EXECUTIVE WILL ADDRESS Y. MEN

An open meeting of the Santa Ana junior college Y. M. C. A. is to be held tonight, with a 6 o'clock banquet in the city association building. Gale Seaman, national Y. M. C. A. executive for the Pacific coast, will speak, according to Melvin Harter, chairman of the program committee.

Freshmen students will be the guests of the Campus "Y." The meeting is planned as a rally for all the men students and faculty members of the college.

During the banquet, musical entertainment will be furnished by an orchestra. The meeting then will be turned over to Seaman for his talk. After the close of the program, Seaman is to meet the members of the "Y" cabinet to suggest plans for the year's activities.

The cabinet members are to go on a retreat to Camp Lewis over the week-end. It was learned Saturday evening and Sunday will be spent in outlining the year's program of the "Y." Stanley McKee, former president of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Southern California, has been invited to go on the retreat as one of the leaders. McKee, Fisk and others of the junior college faculty are planning to accompany the cabinet.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR L. TREMAIN

Funeral services for Lyman Tremain, 55, prominent Orange county rancher, residing on the Santa Ana Canyon road, who died suddenly in Santa Ana, Sunday, were held yesterday afternoon, in the Church of the Messiah, Protestant Episcopal, the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, rector, officiating.

Following the services, the body was taken to the Rosewood crematory, Los Angeles, for incineration. Officers of the church acted as pallbearers.

Friends of Mr. Tremain visited the Winbigger Mission funeral home, in large numbers, yesterday, from 10 a. m. until 1 p. m. The church was filled to capacity during the services.

Bench Warrant Is Issued Here for Alleged Speeder

A bench warrant for the arrest of Ira F. McCullah, 833 First avenue, National City, was issued by Judge J. F. Talbot yesterday, when McCullah did not appear in police court to answer to a charge of speeding in Santa Ana.

The man was arrested last week by Officer B. A. Hershey and given a ticket calling for his appearance here yesterday.

Charged with speeding, Charles O. Green, of Wilmington, yesterday was fined $15 in police court.

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 23.—Resolutions indorsing the veterans' welfare act, proposed increases in salaries of state officers, the water and power act, sale of bonds for new state and university buildings, and the proposed investing of state appellate courts with trial court powers were adopted by the California State Federation of Labor. Minor resolutions indorsed the proposal that all state school textbooks be printed in the state printing office and that the salary of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, be increased from $8000 to $8000 a year.

INSTITUTE OF HEADQUARTERS FOR ARMISTICE PARADE OPENED

A record attendance is expected for the Parent-Teacher institute of the fourth (Orange county) district California Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held Saturday, September 25, at the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school, judging from inquiries received by Mrs. George R. Greer, Santa Ana, program chairman.

Aims of purposes of the Parent-Teacher movement, as well as various phases of departmental activities and administration work, will be explained by speakers. Particular stress will be laid on co-operation with school authorities and prominent educators in the matter of formulating educational policies, it is asserted.

The work of legislative committees of P.-T. A. bodies, having to do with investigations and recommendations of measures dealing with school matters and child welfare, is another item to be discussed at the institute session.

Voicing her approval of the institute movement, Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the Santa Ana city federation of the P.-T. A., urged every member of the city associations to attend Saturday's meeting.

BUSINESS judgment BROUGHT HOME

YOUNG Mrs. Wellford was talking about her husband's recent illness.

"Bill was home for a whole week. It was his first real chance to see me in action as a housewife—we've been married only a year, you know."

"The third day he said to me: 'Sally, you need an Extension Telephone. You're wearing yourself out, running up and down stairs and from room to room every time the telephone rings. I never realized before how much a woman will put up with without complaining. I wouldn't stand for it a minute in my office.'"

"And so?" said her visitor.
"There it is," said Sally proudly.
An Extension Telephone costs only a few cents a week.

A New Studebaker Custom Victoria

-another triumph of One-Profit facilities

STUDEBAKER has designed a new Custom Victoria (for four) that adds custom beauty to inherent Studebaker quality and economy.

The custom grace of its low-swung, full-vision steel body is accentuated by the lustrous loveliness of blended lacquers—delicate duotones of Kinick Green and Tuchi Gray, belted in ebony with a stripe of Apple Green—disc wheels finished to correspond. Its interior, in fine Chase mohair of form-fashioned pattern with broad-lace trim, Butler finish hardware, and an opal iridescent dome light, is replete with every exclusive custom appointment.

It accommodates four people with comfort and is full of room even when full of passengers—has a high-back folding seat at the driver's right, and a rear lounge-seat for two passengers—and in addition to a handy package compartment for the trophies of shopping, there is liberal space under the sloping rear deck for the necessities of travel.

Equipped with four-wheel brakes, full-size balloon tires, two-beam acorn headlights, and a ventilating windshield (exclusively Studebaker) which insures fresh air without drafts or moisture. Under the hood is the enduring stamina of the quiet Studebaker L-head motor, the most powerful in any car of its size and weight. Poised on its radiator is the silvered figure of Atlanta, two-fold symbol of speed's salutation—and adieu!

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Swamp Fox

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

The Swamp Fox was cornered many times. Often when just within grasp of the enemy, and the odds on his capture almost certain, he slipped out by the narrowest of margins. Perhaps the closest he ever came was once in a cornfield where he was surrounded on three sides by British dragons.

The British pressed forward rapidly. Marion, alone, spurred his powerful mount to its utmost but the pursuers hung on.

Capture seemed certain when the Swamp Fox came to a fence seven feet high, with the British just behind.

The fence was a tremendous hazard, but Marion took the dare. Spurring his horse forward he made straight for it. The powerful animal seemed to soar in the air as it cleared the fence and landed safely beyond the ditch beside it. Francis Marion was never captured. (NEXT: Stephen Decatur.)

Just Folks

ONCE IN EVERY MOTRIST'S LIFE

I purchased a bottle of polish from a man that I met on the street

As he smoked a cigar he was shining a car, which is not a remarkable feat,

But I stood there and mused on the stuff which he used, as often I'm tempted to do,

And I'll swear every drag of that greasy old rag made his omnibus shine just like new.

So I paid him a dollar and took home a pint of the polish so simple and quick.

I declared: "I will shine this old wagon of mine, as the man said it's really no trick." I started right in with the courage to win, and shouted with utmost delight

As I looked at my face in that first foot of space, so very remarkably bright.

I worked like a Trojan! but Trejans I'm sure never started to polish a car

And they knew not, I fear, that from hood cap to rear is a distance both spacious and far.

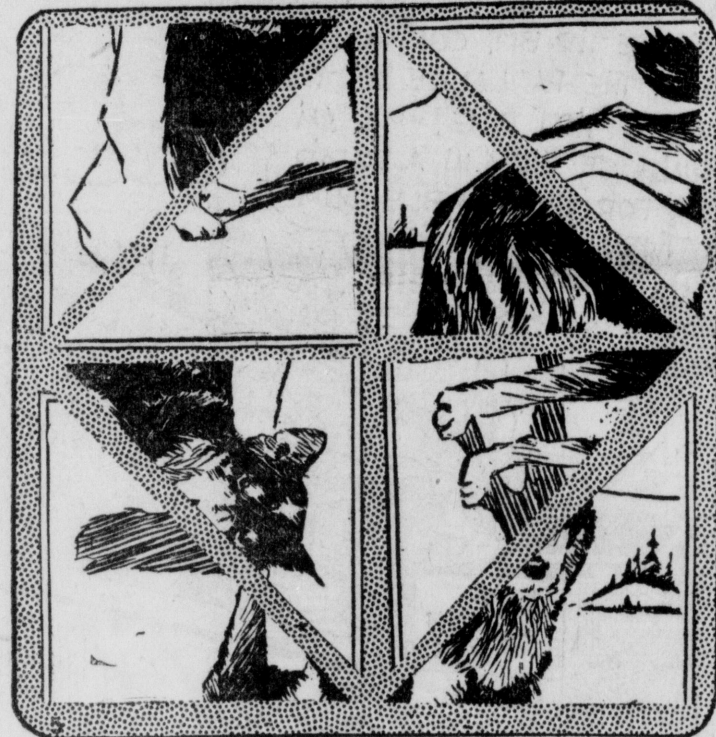

I shined up one side when my energy died and my craze for a lustre was shot.

So I quit then and there. I have polish to spare. Shall I finish the job? I shall not!

JAPANESE TELL STORIES ABOUT THIS CRAB

Wosada Gani

BY AUSTIN H. CLARK
Smithsonian Institution

Can you make out the ugly, malignant little face on the back of this curious, harmless little crab?

This is called the feike of wosada gani and is found only in south Japan, though more or less close relatives are found in all warm seas along the shores or in shallow water.

Like the taka asi sima gani, or giant crab, which measures sometimes almost 12 feet from claw to claw, and is the largest known crustacean, this curious creature holds an important place in the ancient myths and folk-lore of the Japanese.

CONDITION—Too prominent bones in the neck and shoulders. TREATMENT—Dip your finger tips in cold butter or some nourishing skin food and go over the surface that is corrugating with a rotary massage movement. Work slowly with a firm stroke sufficient to bring a rosy glow and stimulate the circulation. Afterwards go over the surface with ice wrapped in a towel, and follow with a mild astringent.

NOTES FROM PARIS

I have just come back from Paris, where there is very little that is new to interest the beauty seeker. The big houses that make creams and astringents and perfumes showed me nothing that we already do not know, and few things that I did not see the last time I went there.

But there are several points that might interest readers—this time I shall write but little about the Paris trip. Perfumes are being sold in unbelievable amounts. Perfume is good this season, I was told—and the expensive perfumes that the smart women buy are almost always an exotic odor; a few flower scents are used. And the really smart thing is to have one's own special perfume blend—which means to buy two to four odors and combine them oneself in varying amounts. Perfumes are more concentrated than ever, so much so, that merely to stand outside the show windows of any of the shops in the Place Vendôme or along the Rue de la Paix, on a warm day, is to be overwhelmed with a stick sweetness in the air.

All make-up has orange in it, and—in Paris—it doesn't much matter whether it is obviously artificial or not. Says Paris—"Let it be becoming, that's all." The newest rouge seems a blend of rose and orange, a little rosier for brunettes. It is becoming, I must admit that over my prejudice against artificiality. Sparingly put on, the odd shade does make the face younger and the cheeks brighter—but everyone knows it is rouge and not a real complexion.

M. C. B.—No one 22 years of age should be suffering with the things you speak of. If your condition is not the result of absolute physical exhaustion from overwork, either physical or mental, in which case you need specific medical advice and rest, it is probably due to a lack of inspiration as far as your personal life is concerned.

A person cannot be healthy if too self-centered or lacking a channel for self-expression. Adopt a healthful nourishing diet. Plan for a liberal amount of out-door exercise. Go in for tramps through the woods if you should happen to delight in them; or take part in games such as tennis or the like, or even a game of ball—of course working into these things gradually. You will find it exhilarating. Play liberates a joyousness of spirit that builds more surely and quickly than the best tonics.

Study some subject which will bring joy to you and help to lift your mind from the things which depress you or fill the vacuum if your life is empty. If you do not live in a town where lectures are given or there are public libraries, take a correspondence course and handle it masterfully. And then pass on this good to others.

Learning Things

Children aren't taught words by syllables any more, but by their meanings. They learn it's the use of a word that counts—not merely its pleasing sound.

When you buy, you know it's the use of a product that counts, not merely its pleasing sound. You can learn its uses and all it means—before you buy. If you read the advertisements, you know definitely how a certain refrigerator will act in your own kitchen; how that furniture polish will improve your own chairs. What is advertised has to do what it's advertised to do. Advertisements are honest. They invite too many thousands of testers not to be honest. Their continued advertising proves them honest! You take advertised facts on faith—as you take the dictionary on faith. You know that the perfume, hosiery, canned goods they describe are the perfumes, hosiery, canned goods widely enjoyed. You read advertisements to know the true meaning of things before you invest in their use.

EVENING SALUTATION

"I love the thoughts that come to me
About the shepherd and his quest.
It puts my twisted soul in tune,
And so I love, I love the West."

GET READY FOR ACTION

Has Fullerton definitely turned down the proposed county junior college?

If so, let us go on without Fullerton.

Santa Ana junior college has grown to such proportions that, in justice to the students, the college should be separated from the high school.

Two years ago, school authorities from all the high school districts of the county were unanimously favorable to the organization of a county junior college district, with the buildings to be located at some central point in the county outside Santa Ana, probably on West Chapman avenue near the Santa Ana river. It was expected that an enabling act allowing a county district to be organized would be passed by the legislature of 1925. However, efforts to secure the enabling act failed of action at Sacramento, and plans for a county college were necessarily set aside.

A new legislature is to convene in January, and steps looking toward the passage of an enabling act, with greater prospect of success than attended the effort two years ago, should now be taken. This enabling act should provide machinery under which a county college can be organized of all of the high school districts of the county or of two or more districts. If, when the act is passed, Fullerton should desire to come in under some mutually agreeable plan for the consolidation of the Santa Ana and Fullerton junior colleges, which are the only junior colleges in the county, we could proceed speedily toward securing the county college. If Fullerton should desire to continue its junior college as a separate institution, no objection would be raised outside the Fullerton district, we are sure.

The sooner it is definitely decided that Fullerton does not care to enter into a county junior college project, the sooner the remainder of the county will know what should be done to meet the situation. A few days ago, a speaker before the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce was reported as declaring that Fullerton should continue to maintain its junior college at Fullerton, and called on the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to guard assiduously against any steps looking to a county college program that would remove the college from Fullerton. In justice to the remainder of the county, Fullerton should at once make its attitude definitely known.

Not speaking for any organization in Santa Ana, Orange, Tustin, Anaheim, Garden Grove, San Juan Capistrano, or Huntington Beach high school districts, it looks to The Register as though plans for a junior college, located at some point agreeable to the majority of the high schools, may be carried forward to success. Santa Ana junior college at this time provides junior college facilities for those high school districts. It may be advisable and necessary, in order to go forward under some plan agreeable to all concerned, to have a junior college district organized with two, three or only four high school districts. We are sure, Santa Ana high school authorities will co-operate fully in any feasible project, and in such a plan will meet other districts more than half way.

The general situation seems to be one that calls for co-operative action by several high school districts for mutual benefit. If other districts, however, find good reasons, as the Fullerton speaker says he has found in Fullerton's behalf, why they should not co-operate, Santa Ana high school is willing and able to proceed alone with the building of a fine new junior college.

You can't blame our gunmen for laughing at disarmament talk.

LIBRARY FILMS

Why should a library contain only books? Why should knowledge of the past be gleaned only from the printed page, when there is now available a method of recording and perpetuating information which the eye can grasp more quickly and surely than writing or print?

So we are going to have library films. Will Hays has taken the matter up with the president, suggesting that films of historical value be stored in the new Archives building at Washington, just as books and papers are stored. There may be vault space reserved there for as many as 50,000 films. The big picture producers are willing to co-operate in carrying out the plan.

It would be a great thing for posterity, if the films were made well and filed wisely, and if they were really used for public enlightenment as books are.

And why should posterity have all the benefit? A time will doubtless come soon when every good public library will have its film department, consisting not only of film storage space but a movie theater, where varied groups of people may gather regularly to "read" films in which they are especially interested, whether of history or science or drama or literature or any other picturable phase of human life?

Will Rogers said it: America and England will both get along all right while each has the other to laugh at.

HOG CALLING STANDARDS

From reports of the great hog-calling contest of the American corn belt, centering in Omaha, one learns that these are the standards by which to judge the merits of any particular performance in this delicate art:

"Pitch and expression" count for 30 points in a hundred;
"Resonance" counts 30 points;
"Volume" counts 20 points, and "friendliness of appeal," 20.

This leaves many things still unexplained. Beginners will want to know just what one says when one calls hogs; there has to be some articulate foundation for the technique to work on. What one says to a hog may be just as important, in inviting him, to the trough or the butcher, as the way one says it. The aspiring beginner may have to consult technical works. Perhaps the Nebraska Agricultural College could give some valuable information along that line.

But having obtained or composed the necessary verbal formula or incantation, the way is clear thenceforward. The artist will practice for the development of pitch, expression, resonance and volume and, not content with merely mechanical excellence, will strive to inject the vital quality, both human and porcine, of "friendly appeal."

That is where the master-artist will reveal his Heaven-sent genius. It will be of no avail for the ambitious hog-caller to possess all the other 80 points of perfection if his execution betrays a lack of the warmth which should flow like a magnetic current from him to the pigs, and rouse their hearts to a glow of mutual understanding and unity. Soul must speak to soul to achieve a perfect masterpiece of hog-calling.

Beautify The Highways

San Francisco Chronicle

A bulletin issued by the United States Department of Agriculture on "Planting the Roadside" should be of interest to Californians.

The highway commission has already carried out some successful tree planting by roads in various parts of the state, but not nearly as much attention has been given this method of beautifying our roadways as should be.

In Maryland there is a state-wide undertaking now in progress, under the direction of the state forester, to convert all the main highways into tree-lined roadways and so to dim the most glaring features of the bill boards.

It is a campaign worthy of our emulation. To begin with, we might well begin with the highway between Colma and Millbrae. The eucalyptus-lined avenue running from Millbrae to San Mateo serves as a model of just what can be done to make our highway system a delight to the eye. We ought to extend this wooded pathway to Colma for a beginning. And, having done so much, set our minds to other extensions.

Suitable tree planting, the Department of Agriculture suggests, is most satisfactorily done by the community as a whole rather than by individuals. Indeed, there is every reason why communities should be eager to improve the appearance of their roads. The city dweller will be more readily attracted to the towns and boroughs his automobile makes him neighbor to when the approach to these smaller communities is made more attractive.

Properly managed, it would be no great undertaking to border our highways with trees. For once the trees are well rooted they take care of themselves.

What a pleasant prospect—a tree-lined highway the full length of the peninsula!

One Cent for the Zoo

San Diego Union

The supervisors of San Diego county have been asked to include a one-cent allowance for the San Diego Zoological society in the budget of county expenditures which they will adopt today. This allowance, added to the two and one-half cents which the city allows out of the municipal tax returns, will enable the zoo management to improve animal housing conditions in what is already the fourth largest zoo in the United States, and to accommodate some of the rare exhibits with better display quarters. The roads and pathways in the garden will also be improved, and the present income is inadequate.

The supervisors' approval of this request will meet with unanimous approval—for there is probably no other educational and advertising institution in the county which is half as popular as the zoo.

Last Sunday, 3500 adults visited the zoo—and probably about the same number of children, admitted free. In 1925, visitors to the zoo averaged 1000 a day, and about half were children. Recently the zoo management made a check of the cars standing in front of the zoo at 4 o'clock of each afternoon; and at the end of the month it was found that there had been there—at that particular time of the day—176 cars from out of the state and that the licenses represented every other state in the Union.

Every item of the zoo's improvement is registered in increased enjoyment and new knowledge for thousands of San Diego grown-ups and children, and in well-remembered pleasure for thousands of tourists who carry San Diego's fame "back home." The zoo's claim to community co-operation is as reasonable as it is popular—which is saying a great deal.

For Your Own Sake

Pasadena Star-News

Much is said, each dry season, in urging everyone to be careful with fire and about forest reserves. Some may wonder why this should be stressed so much. Some may feel indifference. "Why should I worry about forest fires?"

There are many reasons why each and every citizen should be concerned about protection of California forests against wanton destruction by flames. Loss of valuable timber is loss that is felt, directly or indirectly, all over the state. It comes home to every taxpayer.

Then there is the denuding of watersheds which precipitates destructive floods upon the lowlands. Who bears the loss of floods? Not only those who live in the flooded regions and have houses carried away, or orchards or grain-fields devastated, or other damage wrought; but taxpayers all over the county where the flood oceans must share in the loss. For bridges are washed out, and must be replaced. Roads are damaged, and must be repaired. Hundreds of thousands of dollars may be added to taxes by just such havoc.

"Why should I worry about forest fires?" Some member of your family may be camping in a forest reserve—some relative or friend. A great conflagration sweeps through that forest and your loved one or your friend may perish in the flames. Would that be of any concern to you? Just that kind of tragedy may occur during any dry season.

Be careful with fire in forest reserves, for your own sake, as well as for the protection of the public and public interests.

California Progressing

Long Beach Press-Telegram

California is progressing steadily, consistently. Its advancement is genuine, unmistakable, substantial. All sections of the state are sharing in the forward-going, and in the development of material resources. Some sections and some localities are progressing more rapidly than others. But the march of progress is felt in all parts of the commonwealth.

The steady and very gratifying increase in the state's permanent population calls for a great volume of building construction. This is to be found. The state's building bill this year will run into the scores of millions. This great volume of construction has contributed and is contributing greatly to prosperity in California. Structural materials, in vast quantities, are required, much of which is purchased right here at home. Many thousands of men are given steady employment, as construction proceeds. Payrolls are immense, and a great deal of money thus is put into healthy circulation.

In soil culture great progress is to be noted. Farm and orchard products now run into the hundreds of millions in value annually. And ever the march is onward, with increased acreage under cultivation year after year.

Industrial development is notable in California. This state is advancing rapidly, in this. Its manufacturing products run into huge total values annually.

And mineral production keeps to high levels, with commerce swelling to huge figures. California already ranks as fifth state in the Union in value and importance of its exports.

Worth While Verse

OVERRULED

The threads our hands in blindness spin
No self-determined plan weaves in;
The shuttle of the unseen powers
Works out a pattern not as ours.

Ah! Small the choice of him who sings
What sound shall leave the smitten strings;
Fate holds and guides the hand of art;
The singer's is the servant's part.

The wind-harp chooses not the tone
That through its trembling threads is blown;
The patient organ can not guess
What hand its passive keys shall press.

Through wish, resolve, and act, our will
Is moved by undreamed forces still;
And no man measures in advance
His strength with untried circumstance.

As streams take hue from shade and sun,
As runs the life the song must run;
But glad or sad, to his good end
God grant the varying notes many tend.
—John Greenleaf Whittier.

Time To Smile

IT NEVER FAILS

I was about to start out on my first day of hiking at Glacier Park when Bert stopped me. Bert is one of those fancy cowboys who escort "dudes" over the Glacier trails, and he appears to enjoy it.

"You gotta map an' compass?" he asked, and I assured him I had.

"Well, hev you gotta deck of playin' keards?" he persisted.

"Why a deck of playing cards?" I asked.
"Always carry a deck with you, son, and whenever you get lost an' find yerself all alone in the wilderness set down an' start a game of solitaire. There's jest sure to be some darn fool pop up an' look over your shoulder an' tell you to do next."

Little Benny's

After supper pop and ma was waiting for Mr. and Mrs. Hewes to come and start to play bridge with them, and pop kept putting his hand in front of his mouth like somebody pushing back yawns, ma saying, "For goodness sake, my lands, Willyum, I hope you get all your yawns out of your system before the Hewses get here."

"Can't you call them up and tell them I'm unavoidably sleepy?" pop said.

Certainly not, the idea, and you just wake up and act like a man with life in his veins, too, the idea, ma said, and I said, "Hay pop, I'll tell you a good way. I'll always open to good ways, I trust, pop sed, and I sed, "How about if I ask you what time it is every time you yawn in front of the Hewses, and then you'll know your yawning."

I've heard worse ideas, pop sed. Not saying he hadn't heard better ones, and pritty soon Mr. and Mrs. Hewses came and they and pop and ma started to play bridge, and pritty soon pop put his hand up and pushed back a yawn and I quick sed, "What time is it, pop?"

And jest then he pushed back another yawn, ma saying, "What time is it, pop?"

For peest sake dident I jest tell you 20 after 8? pop sed.
And he looked at his cards and opened his mouth crooked to keep another yawn from coming all a ways out, and I sed, "What time is it, pop?"

Yee gods, pop sed, and Mrs. Hewses sed, "Well, that child seems to have a perfect mania for knowing the time."

A regular obsession, Mr. Hewses sed, and pop sed, "Water it is I'm going to tell him bedtime if he asks me again, believe me."

Wich I didnt, and after that every time he started to yawn ma kicked him under the table, working better.

Measures on the Ballot

Under this heading, The Register presents information and arguments concerning various measures that are to be voted upon in the November elections. Views expressed here may or may not be the views of The Register.

WOULD EXPEDITE JUSTICE

Oakland Tribune: While the subject long has been debated and the urgency for reforms stressed by tongue and pen, there has been no time in California, when there were so many prospects for effective action directed at the elimination of the technicalities and delays of the law. The task of reconditioning and revision is a huge and wearisome one. A public awakening to the needs may create commissions to probe the essentials, but it must wait years for the results.

"How can we hold the respect of our courts when they are so cluttered up with administrative detail that it sometimes takes six months to choose a jury?" is a question asked by a university professor of the department of political science, to an audience in Berkeley.

The district attorneys have a number of concrete suggestions; a commission appointed by the last legislature has some constitutional changes to offer.

There will be a proposition on the ballot in November for the reorganization of the judicial council, with the chief justice as chairman, to suggest rules of court procedure.

"This method," says Prof. Samuel C. May, "has been established in Great Britain and the example has been followed in every Anglo-Saxon nation except the United States. The result is well known. In Great Britain more than one hour is never necessary for choosing a jury. Justice is sure and speedy. It is not our duty to take a step which will clear our courts of congestion and assure speedy justice in California?"

Sixty-two per cent of appealed cases are appealed on questions of procedure and not on questions of guilt or innocence, right or wrong. It becomes an imperative duty to support all means to simplify procedure and expedite justice which shall not encroach upon the rights of the individual.

ONE ELECTION SUFFICIENT

San Francisco Chronicle: It is ridiculous to hold two elections for the choice of judges. The judicial candidates who received the highest votes at the late primary election are by no means elected, except in special cases. They must run again in November. This serves no purpose whatever. It merely puts an unjust burden on the candidates. That it is necessary is due solely to deficiencies in the present law.

On the ballot in November will appear a constitutional amendment—No. 23—designed to cure this defect. It provides that candidates for judicial offices who receive at the primary a majority of all votes cast for such office shall be elected. Where there are several offices of the same kind to be filled—for example, superior judgeships—and more candidates receive a majority than are to be elected—which may easily happen—the candidates highest in the list shall be elected.

This is simple common sense to do away with an absurd injustice. No. 23 should carry without a question.

REAPPORTIONMENT

The Knave in Oakland Tribune says: After it had been heralded up and down the state that San Francisco and Alameda counties are aligned with Los Angeles in favor of reapportionment that would give complete control of the legislature to the three most populous counties and, in fact, to the three largest cities, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce surprised the ones who had been picturing this state of affairs by endorsing the Farm Bureau apportionment.

Too much emphasis has been placed by the merchants on the fact that a newspaper, when it appeals to merchants in a spirit of community building, is entirely selfish and is endeavoring to secure advertising space on other than meritorious merchandising basis.

A COMMUNITY INvariably GETS IN STEP WITH ITS PACE-MAKERS. THE NEWSPAPERS AND MERCHANTS OF ANY COMMUNITY ARE VIRTUALLY THAT.

Eat to Live

W. H. Loomis, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio, Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

If you should ever believe, for a moment, that you are exempt from the penalty of wrong habits of living, walk through some popular cemetery and note the average age recorded upon the stones erected to the memory of men and women who have lived "not wisely, but too well," in a dietary sense.

Note that the greater number bade farewell to earth and earthly things between the ages of 46 and 56. Early aging is rapidly increasing in America. Nearly 500,000 people die annually from old age diseases, 60,000 under the age of 40. It is absolutely preventable and disgraceful when any sane person dies from an old age disease under 40.

The tragedy of it does not allow it to become a joke, and yet the tragedy is growing worse; mortality from old age diseases has increased 100 per cent in 30 years and bids fair to double again in the next 20 years.

Not only is the span of life shortened by these diseases, but the productive efficiency of the individual is impaired at just the time he ought to be at the peak of his efficiency.

Faulty nutrition is one of the most important factors that contribute to this condition. The question of diet has been side-stepped for ages. Unless we, as a race, are willing to face it squarely and control it, our people will deteriorate.

At first, the faults of diet are not serious, visible signs, particularly if the constitution be a sturdy one, equipped with tremendous resisting power. But the signs are sure to appear, sooner or later, in lowered vitality, low plan as against the one originating in the South. In other words, the local chamber stands for a re-districting which gives to the Senate equal representation by counties and leave the plan for the Assembly districts as it is, based on population. As the number of Senators is limited to forty and there are fifty-eight counties the upper house, in any event, will not be truly representative but a grouping of some of the less populous ones will not in any way detract from the objective sought. It is not argued that the San Francisco chamber has fallen in with the Farm Bureau plan because it has been convinced of the merits in all the arguments, although this might as well be the case. The chamber sees in equal representation in the Senate, something which many states have tried out to success and a plan which might be more fair to the agricultural regions, but it sees, also, that, under such a scheme, San Francisco would have as large a voice in that body as any other county. In Alameda county, also persistently and mistakenly mentioned as one of the plotters for legislative control, there is an active organization working for the Farm Bureau scheme on the theory that the rural sections and smaller cities are entitled to equal voice in one house, after the manner of the state influence in the United States senate. As far as Alameda county is concerned, however, it will neither gain nor lose in representation if the Los Angeles plan goes through. With the November election only six weeks away the state will hear a great many arguments concerning the two reapportionment proposals and it is evident that if the Bureau is to win it must have support both in San Francisco and Alameda counties. Action of the chamber would indicate that this support will be forthcoming.
